BRITAIN IS STUNG BY DAKAR FAILURE

Japan to Support Germany, if U. S. Enters War

Four-to-One Lineup Is In Making

Spain and Tokyo Are Reported by Berlin
as Ready to Smash
at Britain

Berlin Is Raided

Fliers Hit Nazi Power Stations, Airdrome, Munitions

(By The Associated Press)
Events shaped rapidly today toward the entry of Spain into the war on the side of the Rome-Berlin axis—apparently to permit an attack on Britain's great rock citadel at Gibraltar by German troops passing through Spain.
Berlin reported that inclusion of Japan in the globe-girdling axis program also appeared to be in the offing—as a counter to possible closer British-American collaboration—making a 4-1 combination against Britain's lone stand.
The Fascist press spoke openly of Spain's present role of "prebellum" as Italy's Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano left for Berlin to conclude diplomatic negotiations bearing on the reported "collaboration of Spain and the axis powers."
Informed quarters in Rome pointed out that the fall of Gibraltar, which guards the west gate of the Mediterranean Sea, would enable German troops to cross the narrow Strait of Gibraltar to North Africa—thus facilitating the axis powers' widely-heralded program of breaking England's hold on the dark continent.
Other Developments
Other developments in the international picture broke swiftly:
Great Britain sent her bombers against Berlin in the longest raid of the war on the German capital.
RAF bombers pounded German "invasion ports" along the channel for three hours and 45 minutes, setting great fires stretching from Boulogne to Dunkerque.
The British air ministry reported that RAF raiders scored hits on Berlin's big Tempelhof airdrome, a munitions factory, a railway yard and important power stations.
Berlin acknowledged five killed, five wounded in British raids over Germany, with eight Berlin apartment houses destroyed during a five-hour attack.
"Straddle" Method Used
The power station, in the heart of the factory section to the east of Berlin, was straddled by "sticks" of heavy-caliber bombs in four separate attacks within an hour, the ministry communique said, and bombs bursting on and around the station were followed by fire.
Opening their bombardment shortly after 10 p. m. and continuing into the early morning hours, the RAF nighthawks also plunged explosives onto the capital's west power station, the Schoenberg railway yard, a railway station near the Charlottenburg district, Tempelhof airdrome and nearby railway sidings, the ministry said.
Tempelhof is a 10-minute ride from Adolf Hitler's chancellery.
The air ministry said "a line of Tokyo, Sept. 26 (AP)—A qualified informant said today it is expected Japan would actively support Germany if the United States should enter the European war.

He said the Japanese government finally is convinced that the United States is unalterably opposed to Japan's "legitimate" expansion in the Orient.

Student Slain

Investigation of the slaying of Robert L. Forman, (above) 18-year-old University of Pennsylvania sophomore, indicated today after a 24-hour study, they are convinced the killing was done in a "jealous rage." Testimony of suburban residents, established, Monroe County District Attorney Daniel J. O'Mara said, that Forman probably was shot in Monroe avenue, just south of Rochester, only a few minutes after he had left the home of a Rochester girl, whom he had escorted to a movie Sunday night. Forman's bullet riddled body was found late yesterday in a suburban park.

Kiwanians Hosts At Ladies' Night; Godsen Speaks

State Divisional Governor
Outlines Progress of Club;
Kaletzi Talks About
'Fifth Column'

An appeal to build a "new column," whose "strength shall be so great that the 'fifth column' shall be no more," a visit from their Kiwanis state governor and from a past state governor; entertainment, dining and dancing, highlighted Ladies' Night celebrated at the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday night by members of Kingston Kiwanis Club, visiting officials and guests.
Joseph E. Deegan, chairman of the committee sponsoring the affair, was master of ceremonies during the evening and following the dinner, for which 136 covers were laid, introduced the noted guests and speakers and entertainment features presented.
Guests of the evening included Mayor and Mrs. C. J. Heiselman, Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks, Walter Lloyd of Poughkeepsie, past state governor of Kiwanis, who 19 years ago presented the charter to the local club, and Floyd Waterbury of Ossining, first president of the Ossining Kiwanis Club.
William Godsen, governor of the New York state division of Kiwanis International, was the guest of honor. He told of the progress Kiwanis was making and outlined some of the outstanding features of the work being carried on. Mr. Godsen emphasized the cooperation that had been given and was being given by men prominent in various walks of life in carrying out the Kiwanis program of welfare work.
Kaletzi Speaks
The main speaker of the evening was Charles H. Kaletzi of Syracuse, a member of the publicity committee of Kiwanis International.

Attends Meeting
First Lady Hears F. D. R.
Criticized at Newspaper
Guild Conference

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt attended a four-and-one-half-hour meeting of the Newspaper Guild of New York last night and heard one member declare:
"I have no doubt that President Roosevelt will drag us into this war if he feels that he could."
The comment was made by John F. Ryan, guild organizer, who reported on a guild delegation's experiences at a New York state CIO convention in Rochester recently.
The first lady voted three times on the losing side of debated issues. She voted twice against motions involving acceptance of Ryan's report—which eventually was accepted.
Mrs. Roosevelt remained serious and silent throughout the meeting, taking notes in a small notebook.

President Orders Ban of Scrap Iron Except to Britain

Only Alternative Is That Western Hemisphere Can Buy Metals; Takes Effect October 16

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt today ordered restriction on exports of scrap iron and steel which will permit them after October 16 to go only to countries of the western hemisphere and to Great Britain.
A statement issued by the White House said Mr. Roosevelt had approved the establishment of additional controls over the exportation of iron steel scrap "with a view to conserving the available supply to meet the rapidly expanding requirements of the defense program in this country."
No mention was made of Japan, which has been a big buyer of the scrap, but the latest step to restrict the exports immediately was regarded by some authorities as an additional indication of this country's dissatisfaction with Japan's policies in the Far East.
Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters in response to questions that Mr. Roosevelt had been in almost continuous consultation, mostly by telephone, with Secretary Hull, but that he knew of no major conference scheduled by the Chief Executive to consider touchy Far-Eastern problems.
Applies to 75 Types
Early said the new export limitation would apply to 75 types of iron and steel scrap, even though only 13 of those types have found a place in the export trade.
For some time, exports of the scrap metal have been handled under a licensing system. Licenses will continue to be issued until October 16, Early said, and after that they will be granted only for shipments to western hemisphere nations and England.
The White House statement said:
"The President has approved the early establishment of additional controls of the exportation of iron and steel scrap with a view to conserving the available supply to meet the rapidly expanding requirements of the defense program in this country."
"Effective October 15, 1940, all outstanding balances of licenses which have been granted pursuant to the existing regulations of July 26, 1940, for the exportation of number 1 heavy melting steel scrap will be revoked. On October 16, 1940, the exportation of all grades of iron and steel scrap will be placed under the licensing system."
"Under the new regulations which will be made effective on October 16, 1940, licenses will be issued to permit shipments to the (Continued on Page 23)

Yocan Gets Term At Clinton Prison

Dance Instructor Is Given
3 to 6-Year Sentence
in County Court

Paul Yocan, 41, local dancing instructor, who pleaded guilty to a grand jury indictment charging him with sodomy, was sentenced to an indeterminate sentence of from three to six years in prison at Dannemora, when arraigned before County Judge Andrew J. Cook for sentence this afternoon in county court.
Yocan was arrested early in September by the local police department when a charge of sodomy was lodged against him by the parents of one of his dance pupils. Later in police court Yocan waived examination and was held for grand jury action by City Judge Matthew V. Cahill.
Unable to furnish bail, Yocan has been in the county jail since his arrest.
The indictment against Yocan was found by the grand jury which was in session.
Willie Haskins, charged with burglarizing the Faberman store in this city, was sentenced to a term of from one to two years in Dannemora.

Kingston Is Named As Major Source For Defense Goods

Capital Conference Shows
City Has Good Chance to Expand; Housing
Problem Is Aired

Kingston has been named among 33 up-state communities which will be major sources of supply for defense materials, it was learned yesterday by city officials who attended a meeting in Albany at which expected housing shortages was discussed.
Chances of considerable local industrial growth seem favorable, Mayor C. J. Heiselman indicated today following his visit to the conference yesterday with Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin and Assessor George W. Moore.
A meeting of local manufacturers is slated for next Tuesday afternoon, and the mayor said he would wait the outcome of that meeting before deciding on the advisability of a local housing survey.
Housing Is Discussed
The housing problem as discussed yesterday at Albany was from the viewpoint of possible over-crowding in some cities due to industrial expansion brought on by the national defense program. The conference was called by Edward Weinfeld, state housing commissioner.
Many New York state mayors and housing authorities from some of the larger cities attended. Increased employment was reported in some cities but, none, to date, reported serious housing problems. Commissioner Weinfeld reported to the conference that the need of houses for the middle income group, making from $1,600 to $2,000 per year, seemed to be greater than for the lower income group. The commissioner suggested that the housing surveys be made in the various community (Continued on Page 12)

State Takes Possession of Bear Mountain Bridge, Opens Highway

Bear Mountain, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—New York state formally acquired the Bear Mountain Bridge today in a dual celebration also marking the opening of the new Storm King Mountain bypass.
Built to surmount a mountain obstacle, the new highway is a four-lane, all-separated link in route 9-W's trail from New York to Albany. Three years under construction, it rises by easy stages to a maximum of 2,247 feet.
The late Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, former state public works superintendent, urged its construction in 1934 when three motorists were killed by a landslide on the old Storm King road.
In accepting the Bear Mountain Bridge, which crosses the Hudson river near the new highway, Deputy State Comptroller Francis J. Burns said the transfer would provide reduced tolls which will "come as a great boon to the communities immediately adjacent to the two shores of the mighty Hudson."
The new state toll to be charged for use of the bridge is a flat 50 cents a car. The old toll was 80 cents for the car and driver and 10 cents for each additional passenger.
Burns praised the "able management" of the mid-Hudson bridge at Poughkeepsie and the Rip Van Winkle bridge at Catskill by the New York state bridge authority.
The first bridge to span the lower Hudson river, the Bear Mountain Bridge was acquired this year for $2,275,000 under legislative authority.

Associated Press Building in Bomb Damage Area

Advices sent through British censorship indicated The Associated Press building in London had been hit by a German bomb September 25 during a violent raid on mid-London. The A. P. building, (above) the front of which has been sandbagged since the outbreak of the war, is a five-story structure housing both the A. Farmer Simpson Is Perturbed by Bees, Plans Court Case

Says Peaches Lost Bloom,
He Lost Sales; Used
Flour, He Says, to Identify Insects

It is not a question of a bee or two which troubles Farmer Eli Simpson of Stone Ridge, according to his story, the bees, "like troubles, have come not singly but in battalions."
Some time ago Farmer Simpson, mindful of the cares and tribulations which beset the farmer in his endeavors to market his produce, conceived of the good, if not original idea, of building a road stand to call the attention of the traveling public to his wares.
This seemed particularly appropriate because the farm of Mr. Simpson is on Route 209.
Clarence Rowe of Kingston, producer of honey, owns many hives of honey bees. De Forest Bishop, who owns the land opposite the Simpson farm, was approached with the proposition to permit a few hives to be placed on his land. Mr. Bishop was overjoyed. Some 13 hives were forwarded.
A spot exactly opposite the Simpson stand was selected and the hives installed with their inhabitants.
Hives Not Large
These bee hives are not large. They are of the smaller type, each of the 15 housing no more than 60,000 to 70,000 bees. Farmer Simpson says that he does not believe they all visited his stand at one time but possibly took turns, although there may have been a little crowding and some doubling up.
Anyhow, Farmer Simpson says he noticed that while many cars drove up, and the passengers alighted, they immediately started vigorous calisthenic exercises, consisting mostly of arm waving and dancing. This, he says, was immediately followed by foot work always in the direction of the waiting car and the car was driven rapidly away.
As there were no sales this did not add to Mr. Simpson's happiness. An investigation instituted was not completed because Mr. Simpson followed the example of his customers and went away from there.
When darkness settled on the scene an account of stock was taken and while there had been no sales, he said the peaches had lost their beauty and much of their substance.
Plot Thickens
Now a new character is brought into the scene. In the near neighborhood is a garage, the proprietor of which conducts an oil station, repair shop and raises a peculiarly productive breed of poultry. In addition to these various activities the proprietor enjoys the distinction of having been selected by his neighbors and friends as the local justice of the peace. China Gets Loan

U. S. to Give $25,000,000 in Exchange for Sale of Tungsten Supply

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—The United States has agreed to lend China $25,000,000 through the Export-Import Bank, the loan to be liquidated through the sale of tungsten to this country.
Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, in announcing the loan late yesterday, said the Metals Reserve Company, an RFC subsidiary, had agreed to buy $30,000,000 worth of tungsten to be delivered over a period of years at prices to be agreed upon in accordance with market conditions.
The tungsten purchase, Jones said, will be a part of the defense program. Tungsten is a heavy metallic element used in alloys and in making a hard steel.
The loan brings to $70,000,000 to amounts of credits to China authorized in the last two years.

Churchill Prestige Is Unharmed

Attacks on British Capital

Paper Censures News Chronicle Flails Delay, Hesitation of Venture

London, Sept. 26 (AP)—Great Britain smarted with disappointment today over abandonment of the attempt to seize Dakar, key port of French West Africa, after a three-day battle in which the admiralty guardedly acknowledged that British warships had suffered damage and casualties.
To many, the incident recalled memories of British setbacks in Norway, Flanders and Somaliland, but the public was too much concerned for the moment with the battle of Britain to voice widespread criticism, and there was no indication the ill-starred venture had weakened Prime Minister Churchill's government.
Neutral diplomatic quarters characterized the withdrawal from Dakar as a "resounding diplomatic defeat" and foresaw a lessening of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's chances of winning other parts of the French colonial empire to the side of the "free Frenchmen" still fighting with Britain.
Among diplomats of nations within the axis orbit, one declared: "Frenchmen will not want their nations' post-war economics run by Britain or their foreign policy decided by a general strongly under British influence."
Liberal members of Parliament asserted Britain should not wait on "high principles of state policy," since Dakar is "important, almost vital to South American trade routes."
"Three battleships could have taken Dakar and there would be no further talk of axis infiltration," they said.
The press, for the most part, contented itself with publishing the government communique on the withdrawal under such headlines as "Fleet Withdrawn From Dakar—No Wish to Fight French."
The News Chronicle alone sounded a note of censure, striking out with a bold headline "De Gaulle's Expedition to Dakar Fails" and printing an article by Vernon Bartlett, independent member of Parliament, storming against "delay and hesitation" and declaring "it has been decided" that Germany must be allowed another success.
"The decision to withdraw the 'free French' forces of General Charles De Gaulle and the supporting British fleet from Dakar was made, the British ministry of information said, 'when it became evident that only a major operation of war could secure the fall' of the port."
The communique explained, "It has never been the intention of His Majesty's government to enter into serious warlike operations against those Frenchmen who felt it their duty to obey the commands of the Vichy government" and declared, "General De Gaulle himself was most anxious that he should not be the cause of bloodshed to his fellow countrymen."
While acknowledging that his had been scored on British warships by French shore batteries, (Continued on Page 26)

Schirick Signs Appraisal Report

Fourth Separate List Is Confirmed by Court

Justice Harry E. Schirick has signed an order of confirmation, confirming the fourth separate report of Commissioners of Appraisal M. Michel Dobris, Mark W. MacLay and Ross K. Osterhoudt, members of Delaware Section 7 commission.

For the city of New York Henry Bright and Vincent G. Connelly appeared for the confirmation and Charles W. Walton, Clarence A. Hoonbeek and Thomas J. Plunket appeared for claimants.

By the order all claims of Wesley D. Irwin, Annis M. Irwin, Elmer Sheeley, Ida L. Brown and Archie Smith for real estate damage under Section K 41-44 is dismissed, except as to any claim for business damage possessed by Ida L. Brown.

All amounts of compensation fixed by the Commission's report and all allowances for expenses and disbursements are approved by the court. In the Irwin claim the award was $1,100 with $252 for expenses and disbursements and $35 for counsel fees. In the Sheeley claim the award was $550 with $180.50 for expenses and disbursements and $27.50 for counsel fees. The Brown award was $4,300 with $446 for expenses and disbursements and $215 for counsel fees. The Smith award was for $5,400 with $377.19 for expenses and disbursements and $270 for counsel fees.

New Studies in Infantile Paralysis Are Revealed

Suggesting that the condition of the person exposed to poliomyelitis, commonly known as infantile paralysis, rather than the manner of exposure is a major factor in whether or not a person becomes infected, Dr. William Lloyd Aycock of the Harvard Medical School, Boston, says that pregnancy might render a person more susceptible to the disease.

In testing monkeys to determine their susceptibility to the virus of poliomyelitis, Dr. Aycock found that when substances containing female sex hormone, normally excreted during periods of pregnancy, were injected into the monkeys, their ability to resist the infantile virus was increased. He concluded that susceptibility might lie in some discrepancy of such substances.

He also pointed to an analysis made on the 1939 outbreak of infantile in Detroit as corroborative of his supposition. Out of 528 cases studied, there were four in which the patients were pregnant. This was four times the number that might have been expected from chance coincidence figured on a mathematical basis.

A few years ago the theory was held almost universally that the virus of poliomyelitis entered a person's system only through the nose. Gradually information has been brought to light that makes this questionable, according to Drs. Howard A. Howe and David Bodian of Baltimore.

Dr. Howe told of administration of the virus to monkeys both by mouth and by a special tube that fed into the stomach. In each case the monkeys developed the disease with paralysis. Dr. Howe also called attention to a human case in which there was no evidence of damage to olfactory bulbs in the nose through which the disease was formerly thought always to pass, leaving destruction in its wake.

More Synthetic Rubber

Since the recent announcement by a large rubber company of the perfection of synthetic rubber, other companies have come to the front with similar announcements. Research on several other rubber substitutes has reached the stage where they can be put into production in this country.

One company claims it has been producing for several years a synthetic material more satisfactory than rubber for many uses, but somewhat more expensive. A subsidiary of a large oil company is working on the buna process originated in Germany, and its chemists claim they have improved and cheapened the German product. This company is building a plant in Louisiana.

Cost is an important factor in the production of rubber. The country's annual bill for natural rubber, of which we use nearly 600,000 tons a year, is about $250,000,000. Estimates as to the cost of the synthetic product run as low as 20 cents a pound for the cheaper varieties.

Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross in 1905.

Harold Cohen has resumed his studies at the University of Alabama.

Mrs. Edgar Van Vliet accompanied friends to the Grahamsville Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Tanner, Jr., has returned home from a motor trip through the New England states.

Mortimer Block has returned from a few days spent in New York.

Mrs. Carrie Coddington is seriously ill at the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Palmer spent Sunday in Newburgh. Mrs. L. M. Decker accompanied them as far as Walden, where she spent the day with her sister.

Among those who attended the World's Fair over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Gross Schoonmaker, Mrs. Lloyd Barley, Mrs. D. B. Quick and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gazlay.

The Accord Fire Company will hold a fire drill on Thursday evening. All members are asked to meet at Howard Anderson's at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Mae Miller and Kenneth Davis spent the week-end in Ossining.

Mrs. A. L. Sahler and mother entertained Miss Anna Schoonmaker and Mr. and Mrs. George Krom of New York over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller spent the week-end at Yorktown Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Brooks and daughter, Alice, are spending the week with relatives in Detroit, Mich.

Bobby Brooks is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Countryman and family.

Mother's Ears Will Make Her Son's Face Normal

WESTCLIFF-ON-SEA, ESSEX, ENGLAND.—A mother's sacrifice will complete one of the most remarkable operations in the annals of plastic surgery.

The mother is Mrs. Atkins of Westcliff-on-Sea, and she is going to give her ears to her eight-year-old son, Jimmy.

As the result of his affliction, Jimmy could not speak properly. His playmates were often unkind, and his mother did what any other mother would have done. She took him away from school.

For months now, Jimmy has been going to the hospital for his face to be rebuilt with skin grafted from other parts of his body.

His smile is no longer contorted, but straight and jolly.

At the moment he has no ears. When his mother heard that Jimmy could be given ears, she said eagerly, "Let him have mine!"

In a few weeks the final delicate operation of transferring the mother's ears to her son will be carried out.

BLAST ROCKS CHEMICAL FACTORY

An explosion of resin and oils at the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corporation's plant at Clairton, Pa., not far from Pittsburgh, brought this damage to two buildings. No employees were in the buildings at the time, and firemen succeeded in checking the flames which followed the terrific blast.

No Sabotage in Blast

Clairton, Pa., Sept. 26 (AP)—R. W. Ostermayer, president of the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corporation, said today there was "no possibility of sabotage" in an explosion and fire which destroyed two of the company's buildings here yesterday. He attributed the explosion to "adverse chemical reaction."

Six Canadians Killed

Newmarket, Ont., Sept. 26 (AP)—Six privates of the Canadian active service force were killed early today in a collision of their automobile with a fruit truck.

Aunt Abby says

I tell Pa he always has a reason for getting angry, but it's seldom a good one.

We won a package of tea at Bingo the other night, but I gave it back to be won again. "My stars," I sez, "when LIPTON'S TEA is so extra good and tasty, why monkey with any other?"

Maybe it's bad manners to shush a fool, but it's cruel to let him keep on talking.

Mrs. Kinney figures down to the penny how much it costs to feed her boarders. And she says that LIPTON'S TEA costs less than half a cent a cup. That's mighty little to pay for such grand rich flavor. You should try it!

Announcing the big NEW FORD 1941

In some years, some cars take a big jump ahead. The Ford does that for 1941.

It has jumped ahead in size. It's the biggest Ford we've ever built, inside and out. It's wider. It has a longer wheelbase. Its seating room is wider by as much as 7 inches. It has new wide doors and semi-concealed running boards.

You'll notice also a new beauty, achieved by a skilful blending of mass with longer flowing lines. Larger windshield and windows give better vision all around.

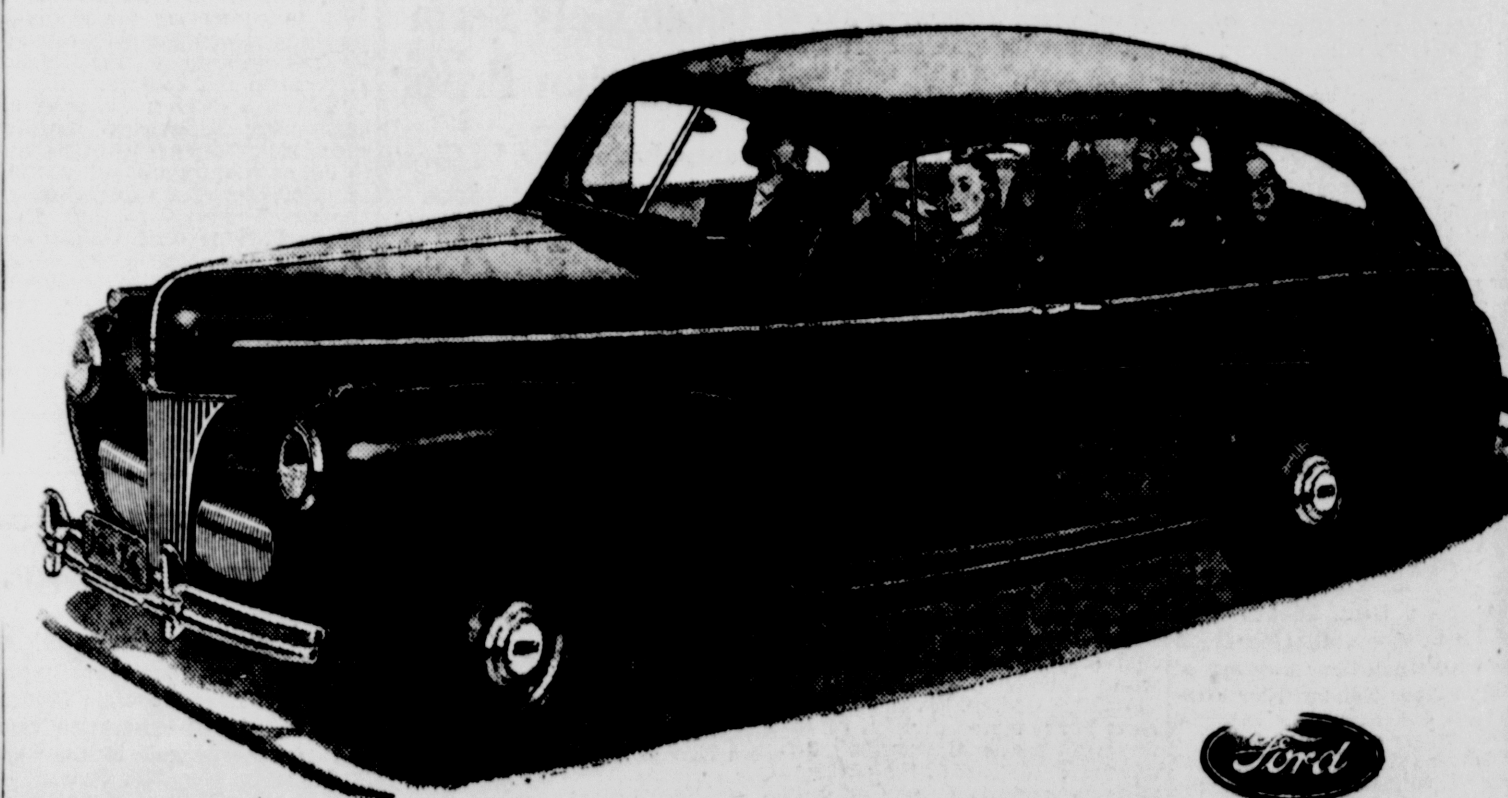

One of its biggest advantages is the new soft ride.

New, slower-action springs give a slow, gentle, gliding movement. A newly designed stabilizer helps absorb road shocks, and maintains balance on sharp curves and in cross winds.

More rapid acceleration to match its familiar speed and power makes this new Ford an even livelier car to drive.

These are only a few of this new car's outstanding features. It represents all the rich experience gained in building more than 28 million motor cars.

Any Ford dealer can give you many good reasons for making this your 1941 car.

Get the Facts and You'll Get a Ford!

House Group Recommends Additional Fund for Army

Is $1,469,993.636 in Cash and Orders for Goods to Boost Size of Army

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee recommended today that Congress allocate an additional $1,469,993,636 in cash and contract authorizations to bring the nation's army to 3,399,441 men by next July. The committee approved a bill which would increase the session's total appropriations and contract authorizations for the armed forces to a peacetime record of $2,385,525,516. This did not include approximately $4,700,000,000 authorized for a "two-ocean navy" program.

An item of $1,062,976,496 to equip, clothe, pay and otherwise provide for national guardsmen, reserve officers and draftees is in addition to $338,265,902 appropriated early in the week for armaments and other housing needs. The bill included $165,000,000 of appropriation and $150,000,000 of contractual authority for expanding production of airplanes, the goal for which was said to be 6,000 a year by 1942.

Other Major Items

Other major items included $107,445,499 for purchase of 75-15 motor vehicles; $24,825,108 for administration of the draft; $36,000,000 for anti-aircraft batteries; $10,000,000 for naval vessels now being acquired; $10,000,000 for a training drydock at New York City; $5,000,000 for a naval supply depot at Bayonne, N. J.; and $6,444,640 to supplement the 2,000 pilot training program.

The committee said that if the appropriation bill won approval, the war department planned to ring into the service during the remainder of the current fiscal year a total of 1,024,441 men in addition to a force of 375,000 army regulars previously appropriated.

Increase in Army

The committee said the $12,136,832,516 defense fund would: Increase the regular army from 227,000 to 375,000 men, raise the strength of the National Guard from 210,000 to 346,130 men, induct into the service and train a minimum of 685,990 conscripted men, raise the strength of the army from 145,000 to 375,000 and the marine corps from 25,000 to 34,000.

House, clothe, feed, pay and train these expanded forces. Increase pilot training and develop enlisted airplane mechanics. Completely equip and maintain 1,400,000 soldiers on a combat status.

Provide reserve stocks of semi-automatic rifles, anti-tank guns, tanks, light and heavy artillery, ammunition, gas masks, etc.—for a ground force of 2,000,000 men. Provide the army with 25,000 and the navy with 10,000 "serviceable" airplanes.

Begin construction of 292 combatant naval vessels and 57 auxiliary ships. Provide additional airplane, shipbuilding and other armament production facilities. Establish and develop new army and navy air bases and stations.

Kingston Cattle Dealer's Trial Is Now Under Way

Ben Ballison, Kingston cattle dealer, went on trial Wednesday in Poughkeepsie on a charge of first degree grand larceny and receiving stolen goods, in Dutchess county's notorious cattle rustling case.

District Attorney Schwartz asked the mixed jury for a conviction on the indictment. William A. Mulvey, associate counsel with Robert G. Groves, of Kingston, in defense, told the jury that Ballison is innocent and that he should be acquitted.

The People charge that Ballison, who reputedly purchased the cattle, conspired with Paul A. Shook and Earl E. Rockefeller, Pine Plains, for the theft of the cows and heifers and the delivery of the livestock to him. This Ballison denies. The People do not allege that Ballison was physically present at the time of the theft.

Trial in the case is expected to run through Friday.

of 17 trade schools and a wide selection of courses by the Marine Corps Institute, all ideally suited to the needs of men serving in the Marine Corps.

Without expense to themselves, Marines can take these courses which are identical to those offered by the famous International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa. The only difference being that the lesson papers are corrected by specially trained Marine instructors.

Today, skilled hands and trained minds are in great demand. They are needed by manufacturers and merchants everywhere to keep the wheels of commerce turning. There are many schools for ambitious young men to attend.

Many Marines, while serving their country, have learned worthwhile trades and are graduates of various arts and science courses taught in the Marine Corps Institute and the 17 trade schools available.

Details may be learned from the local postmaster or by applying to the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Office, Room 411, Post Office Building, Albany, where Sergeants Charles E. Widstrom and Thomas Smith will answer all questions.

Urges Care in Handling Funds

Improvement in Fiscal Practices Possible

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The actual expenditures of the federal government for defense purposes this year are expected to considerably more than equal the total property taxes collected throughout the United States, according to Dr. M. P. Catherwood of the New York state college of agriculture.

In view of this, he told a recent meeting of bankers in Erie and Niagara counties, "state and local governments should take particular care with their expenditures and borrowing."

Dr. Catherwood, who is chairman of the New York state planning council, called attention to the need and possibilities of improved fiscal practices by all units of government. He mentioned specifically the need for improved methods of assessing property and equalizing assessments in the local units in New York.

Improvements Cited

The speaker cited the improvements made by a number of towns and counties in the local assessment of property. He said that card-index systems and maps of all properties, such as used by some assessors, are essential for proper assessment and equalization.

He described the development of state and local tax relationships. "More than half of the state budget, or about 200 million dollars, represents financial aid for local units," he pointed out. "In addition, about 70 million dollars is collected by the state and returned to the local units."

"Under present conditions such financial aids to the localities are required if they are to continue the present services to the public, which cannot be financed exclusively through property taxation. But the large number of different systems under which financial aid is provided to the local units could be simplified and great care is necessary to insure economical spending of such funds."

May Decrease Aid

"Just as the growing magnitude of the federal tax system threatens an encroachment upon the tax resources of the states and localities, so the growing problem of financing the state government is likely to force the state to decrease its financial aid to localities. If this is necessary, it means reduced services, increased borrowing, or increased property taxes by the local units of government."

"In the development of the defense program of the federal government, a considerable increase in central control is almost certain. Many who recognize this are seriously disturbed as to whether it can be reversed when the emergency is over. Placing the finances of our states and localities in the best order so as to retain and increase the confidence of citizens may well be a vital element in continuing that form of government which the defense expenditures are being made to protect."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Booth, of Poughkeepsie, were dinner guests Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Booth.

A musical festival will be presented Friday evening, September 27 at 8 p. m. in the New Hurley Church hall. The Sunshine Mountaineers will play familiar songs and Billie Lou Enoch a coming new radio tenor will sing. This musical will be presented under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Everyone is invited.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. M. L. Birch, Wednesday afternoon October 2 at 2:30 p. m.

There will be regular preaching services in the New Hurley Church next Sunday morning at 11 a. m. (EST) and Sunday school at 10:15 o'clock. On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock an opportunity will be given to all who desire to unite with the church by confession of faith, to study the necessary requirements of a church member. The communion service will be held the first Sunday in November.

Pillars of Justice See Bunny Fight: Is Bounced About

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Night Club Singer Bunny Howard emerged today as round-one victor in a custody battle for her six-year-old daughter which blossomed into a full-fledged free-for-all among pillars of Manhattan Supreme Court.

The songstress and her estranged husband Frank J. Long, 26, a program seller at Billy Rose's World's Fair Aquacade, appeared before Justice Samuel Hofstadter yesterday, each demanding custody of the child, Jacqueline.

The court adjourned until October 30 the legal aspects of the struggle—then the fireworks began.

Out in the court house rotunda, Long was slammed to the floor for a count of six, and Bunny, herself, was bounced around a bit.

The battle, touched off by Jacqueline's yell, "I want my daddy," lasted several minutes. In there swinging were attorneys for both sides, court attendants and Bunny's pianist, Gypsy Lee.

Long lost the battle, for he was groggy from having fielded a punch which put him on the floor. He had difficulty arising, and this gave Bunny a needed break.

With the child in tow, she made for the nearest exit.

The child was returned to the Sacred Heart Villa, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., in accordance with the court order.

Announcing the New MERCURY 8 FOR 1941

BEHIND the broad, masterful lines of the new Mercury 8 is written the most amazing success story in modern motor car history.

Introduced just two years ago, in a field crowded with well-established cars, the Mercury dared to challenge the recognized standards of value and performance with new ideas! And to date, it has won over 150,000 owner-friends!

The story of the Mercury's meteoric rise is its owners' story, written in the warmth of their enthusiasm. When they found the Mercury a big car in all the good things the word implies—and an economical car, they spread its praise far and wide. And so contagious was their enthusiasm that they made the new Mercury one of the most popular cars in its field!

The 1941 Mercury adds to the new ideas that have made this car a name for comfort, for easy handling that is a revelation. It is a new and livelier car, a thrillingly big car—inside and out. Body and doors sweep out over the running boards. Windshield and windows are wider and deeper. A new long wheelbase adds still more spaciousness.

You'll find the 1941 Mercury on display tomorrow. Give it the judgment of your experience—any Mercury, Lincoln or Ford dealer will arrange a demonstration for you on short notice.

Chapter 36
To The Victor

DON bent to kiss Constance, patting her hand. "Forget everything, I'm in the saddle now."

Donna whisked in gaily. "My word, how you do steal the limelight," she prattled. "Here I spent days and nights being a traitor to my family to try to forewarn Pedro what was going on so he'd save the ranch, and then, just as I was ready for the big denouement, you jump off the deep end."

There was silence for a moment. Constance waited for the next news. Then Donna sidled nearer the bed.

"Connie, will you be my maid-of-honor?"

"No!" The word came out forcefully. This was too much. "Not that I don't think Pedro will make an ideal brother-in-law," she hastened to say.

"Pedro! Good gracious, Con, that tall, dark and handsome wouldn't have me as a gift. I'm marrying Jack Dea. You know, Santa Barbara and way-points. We're going to the Islands."

"But you and Pedro," began Constance.

"Listen, sweet, all I ever had out of Pedro's company was a course of curtain lectures. He was the one who made me see what a nit-wit I was around you. He made me appreciate you. He likes girls like you, girls with a purpose, like that red-headed Irene something or other."

Constance scarcely heard Donna's chatter until she said, "and I think Nadine and the Major are that way."

So she had lost to the red-head, Constance thought. She had been so concerned with the thoughts of her head that she hadn't listened to her heart. Not that it mattered; she was just fifty thousand dollars behind marrying anyone herself.

"Nurse," Constance awakened from a late nap, "I'm leaving tomorrow. I can't! I! But I don't want anyone to know."

"Well," said the nurse, "if you can pass that man who's waited downstairs every day—"

"What man?" hope flared up.

"John Raskthorne," said the nurse, reading it from a card.

Hope died down. By dint of bribery, Constance left the hospital in the freight elevator. A hired car and driver waited at the ambulance entrance. Constance was glad she didn't have to steer the car past that memorable spot.

El Cabrillo was quiet when she reached there. Then she spied Julianio in sack-cloth, his hair dusted in ashes. Julianio the dramatic, who came to her on his knees.

"It's all right," Constance assured him. "We just didn't understand each other. I'm going away, Julianio, you can repay me by showing Don and Pedro how El Cabrillo men can make this ranch the best of its kind."

"My Wife"

PANCHO was in his eleven-acre lot, healed. He came to her with a whinny of greeting. He pranced around when she was in the saddle, then headed for the hills, and she let him take his own way. She was saying goodbye to El Cabrillo. She wanted to be alone.

Fog was coming in from the west. As she rode up the ridge to the boulder peak, she could see it tumbling in beneath her in silver waves. Perhaps she should turn back, but Maria had assured her, nearly a year ago, that horses traveled by sense.

She patted Pancho and he lifted his head, bared his teeth and trumpeted.

An answering trumpet came from the timberline and a horse-man rode out.

Constance watched him, seated so surely, riding so easily, this same vaquero who had ridden out of another fog. And she was stirred a thousand-fold more than she had been stirred that other time.

"Señorita," he smiled at her; a conquering, proud smile, dark eyes challenging. "You are lost!"

"I have lost, Pedro," she corrected, smiling as she thrust her hand at him. "Congratulations. To the victor goes El Cabrillo."

Pedro swung off his horse and sent him grazing, then extended his hand to Constance and she stepped down.

They were face to face and Pedro was smiling at her in his old, teasing way.

"You're wrong. I'm just a hired hand on this ranch."

Constance felt the world sway under her. Could Pedro be swinging his help to the red-headed Irene?

"You're not buying in? Why, Pedro. Why?"

"My wife needs the money."

This, thought Constance, is defeat.

"You see," he was explaining carefully, "I fell in love with a shrewd young woman. She bargained with love. She didn't know anything about love. You can't bargain with it, because it has to be paid in like kind."

"Well, I can repay her love with mine, consequently I don't need the money and she does."

Constance swallowed, wondering why her throat could be so dry when this wet fog was rolling in, enveloping them.

"I hope you will both be very happy," she offered formally.

"Oh, we're going to be," Pedro assured her. "Dad's retiring and my wife's brother and I am going to run the place. He's a fine kid. Never had a chance. No discipline, no man to keep his excess vitality in the right stream. Yes, sir, Don Cabrillo's one of the nicest."

"Pedro—"

"Yes, Michael?"

"Now will you let me tell you what I've been trying to tell you for months?"

"Now you don't have to," he laughed. "If you can imagine Don, looking as he does, in the role of cupid—"

Not A Dream

SHE was in his arms. She wasn't dreaming it. And if she were, she hoped she'd never awaken.

She did. She pushed Pedro away. "I can't let you do it," she protested. "El Cabrillo has meant too much to you. You need to own part of it."

"I will be owning a half of one-fourth," he assured her. "Community property law in this state gives me that, when I marry you. Besides, didn't Raskthorne tell you, as he told me, that I was trying to marry the ranch?"

"But—"

"There's that argumentative but again. Listen, dear, we're doing old John out of enough, you and I. Let him have the satisfaction of thinking he was right."

"Even if it does cost you fifty thousand?" she asked, and laughed. "I do come high."

"And worth every fraction of a cent to me, Michael."

Constance knew this as surely as she knew she would sacrifice more than that for Pedro. She lifted her face from his arms, and the fog curled her hair in wet tendrils, curled the dark lashes back from narrowed eyes.

"Now, Michael Mahoney," he warned, "you can't bargain with me. No time. Let's get John paid off so we can be married right away. I've waited long enough."

Constance reached up and turned his head to one side so that she could see the rugged profile. "Imagine bargaining with a ruthless one like you," she chided.

"No, I was just thinking, and it's queer Pedro. I've never taken an unearned cent without paying interest. I thought I never could. But I don't mind accepting this money from you. Why?"

Pedro smiled his teasing smile. "It couldn't be that you loved me, could it? Love neither gives nor gains nor accepts for burden. I've learned all this in the past year."

"Now let's go down to Dad. He was pulling for you to fail while he helped you win, because he thought you needed relief from your family. He was going to buy the place and then give it to us as a wedding present. He seemed to know, ever since your first visit, that you'd marry me some time."

"And you didn't?"

Pedro's past doubts were encompassed in two words: "Oh, Michael," as he gathered her back into his arms.

So they delayed their trip to the ranch until the fog bound them into a silver cocoon; and Pancho and Midnight, indignantly forced to ride side by side, sensed their way home.

THE END

Ambitious Boy and Dog

Memphis, Tenn. (A. Young Ben Allen wrote this letter to a Memphis newspaper: "Dear Sirs: I am a boy eight years old and have a dog that likes to find terrapins, and we really find them. Do you know anyone or place that will buy a bunch of them? I'll appreciate any information very much, and thank you."

In Fiji the human head is sacred and it is an insult to reach above it.

Here's another man who just fills the bill.

A soldier asked for exemption from church parade on the ground that he was an agnostic. The sergeant major assumed an expression of innocent interest.

Sergeant Major (mildly)—Don't you believe in the Ten Commandments?

Soldier—Not one, sir. Not even the rule about keeping the Sabbath?

Soldier—No, sir.

Sergeant Major (smiling)—Ah, well, you're the very man I've been looking for to scrub out the dry canteen!

gives Summary of '39 Farm Program

Accomplishments, Practice and Payments Cited

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 26.—As the 1940 agricultural conservation program draws to a close, a summary of the accomplishments of 1939 on New York farms has been compiled by W. J. Webster of the state agricultural conservation office. That year more farmers enrolled than ever before. The number was 56,739. Payments totaling $3,331,377 were made to nearly 49,000 New York farmers who carried out the necessary practices. The average payment was about seventy dollars.

Total land on the 49,000 farms in the program was in excess of eight million acres. The average was 161 acres. The total amount of cropland in the program was 3,651,541 acres, or an average of 74 acres to the farm. Payments were made among other things, for carrying out soil-improving practices on 1,093,181 acres of pasture and 165,546 acres of orchard.

Most Popular Practices

Among the soil-building practices undertaken on most farms were: the seeding of grass and legume mixtures, on 25,347 farms or 257,776 acres; seeding alfalfa on 7,090 farms or 49,979 acres; applying 20 per cent superphosphate on 35,459 farms or 450,369 acres; liming on 37,000 farms or 356,038 acres; the use of green manure and cover crops on 5,583 farms or 106,734 acres; and orchard mulching on 2,830 farms or 21,185 acres.

Sixteen other practices, such as seeding sweet clover, woodlot management, strip-cropping, mulching vegetable land, and planting forest trees, were adopted by New York farmers on acreages that varied from 200 to 10,000.

The year 1939 was the first that lime was offered under the grant-of-aid plan in which farmers were permitted to buy lime and to pay for it through payment earned later. Nearly 11,000 farmers participated and used 99,000 tons of lime on 86,000 acres.

Special allotment programs had the following enrollments: for wheat, 10,550 farmers; potatoes, 6,604 farmers; commercial vegetables, 9,510 farmers; and corn for grain, 15,227 farmers.

Sea War Brings Back Noted Ship

Star of Finland Refitted With Sails for Voyages In Trade Routes.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The war, with its toll of shipping, has given a new and unexpected lease of active life to the Star of Finland, one of the most famous and historic windjammers of the days when windjammers were the lifeblood of commerce.

Many West coast shippers predict that if the war toll on world shipping continues at its present pace, even more windjammers will come back into active service from the scores and scores of piers where they are rotting now.

The Star of Finland has been purchased by the South Pacific Trading company of Manila, reconditioned, and soon will start on the first voyage of its new life, carrying either lumber or grain.

But of all the windjammers that may be refitted, shippers declare that none will come back with such a colorful and historic record as that of the Star of Finland.

Built at Bath, Maine.

It was originally built at Bath, Maine, 41 years ago as the Kalulani. It had been ordered by King Kalakoua of Hawaii at a time when he dreamed of an empire of South Sea Islands. The Kalulani was to have been the flagship of his fleet that would have enabled him to rule his island empire from Honolulu.

But the dream faded and the king died, and the ship was sold to the Alaska Packers. With them it was renamed and became one of a famous group of sister "Star" ships. The Star of Finland is the last survivor.

The Stars of Lapland and Zealand sailed the scrap-iron course to Japan, where, after having carried there a final cargo of scrap iron, they themselves were added to the heap.

The Star of France is a prison hulk at Noumea in the French South Seas. Others were wrecked or became barges.

The Star of Finland will sail under the command of Capt. Harry Johnson, as square a rigged a sailor as the Star is a square-rigged ship. Johnson ran the blockade to Spain with aviation gasoline.

Skipper Happy Again.

"It'll be good to go to sea again in the Finland," he said, "and it'll be a relief from having tracer bullets bouncing off our gasoline drums."

The Star of Finland has had her stays tightened, a new coat of paint applied, and now offers 1,700 more tons of shipping to help fill the gap of hundreds of thousands of tons that are being sunk.

At whatever port the Star of Finland will pick up its cargo, which probably will be Seattle, it will pick up a crew of Filipinos and then will head for Australia, South Africa and other destinations.

As a unit of the fleet of 28 windjammers once owned by the Alaska Packers it had continued down in active service until 1935, when the company switched to steam vessels.

Pastor Develops Fresco

On Cloth in Spare Time

WEST WARREN, MASS.—Rev. Omer J. Chevrette, pastor of St. Thomas' (Catholic) church, is spending all his spare time in developing a streamline version of an ancient art.

Already Father Chevrette has been granted a patent on his process of "painting fresco on cloth," a work that has aroused the interest of the art world.

In ancient fresco work, artists outline a sketch on fresh plaster, then laid in colors which would sink into the plaster and make a permanent picture.

In the new cloth process, Father Chevrette outlines a sketch in pencil, saturates the cloth with dyes which, when dry, are covered with water color pigments. The final process gives depth and richness of tone as well as a lasting picture.

Nutrition Expert Denies

White Bread Is Fattening

FOLAND SPRINGS, MAINE.—While bread is not fattening, contrary to popular opinion, says Dr. James Tobey, nutrition director of the American Institute of Baking.

He explains that no food is fattening in itself but the quantity of any food, including bread, which is consumed regulates fattening qualities. Proper diet, Tobey says, can balance the energy intake with the energy required.

Bread made with milk or bread eaten with milk, he says, is an energy food and muscle builder.

Stork Plays No Favorites

At Wild Animal Farm

NASHUA, N. H.—A wild animal training farm reports it has produced more babies this year than ever before.

The newcomers include a pair of black cub bears, a pair of cinnamon bear cubs, a pair of Nubian lion cubs, several donkey colts, a pair of Shetland colts, two raccoons and many peacocks, owls and water fowl. Also, the stork is expected soon at the iger cage.

Five Generations Living

Louisville, Ky. (AP)—A span of 71 years encompasses five generations in the family of one-year-old Barbara Ann Kaelin. Her mother is 19, her grandmother 38, her great-grandmother 56, her great-great-grandmother 78.

Oklahoma has the largest Indian population, 92,725; Arizona is next with 43,726.

Garner Is Back At Capital Office

Vice President Is Quiet
About Future; Mentions
'Last Minute' Leader

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—Vice President Garner returned to the capital today after a two-months stay in Texas, still silent about his future plans.

Colonel Edwin A. Halsey, secretary of the Senate, was the only official to meet the train.

"I have no statement," was Garner's reply to all questions about his return, his departure for Texas two months ago, or his possible part in the coming political campaign.

When the Vice President left here July 22 he said he was going home to vote and declined to say whether he would return.

"I'll reserve my decision on that," Garner told reporters then. "I have a leader who waits until the last minute to make up his mind."

This apparently was a shot at President Roosevelt's last minute announcement that he would accept the third-term nomination of the Democratic convention.

Garner, who twice won overwhelming victories with Roosevelt, unsuccessfully sought the presidential nomination in his own right and was supplanted as the Democratic vice presidential entry by Henry A. Wallace, the secretary of agriculture.

Retirement Officials

Return to Albany

Albert Jones and Joseph Dee of the state retirement system in Albany, who have been busy at work in the city hall since last April checking the records of city employees, completed the work this week, and have returned to the home office.

Several months ago the Common Council authorized all city employees to become members of the state retirement system, and the two auditors were sent to Kingston to check the payrolls as to the length of time those who entered the pension system had been employed so they could be given service records.

They Had 'Loan Sharks'

In Neo-Babylonian Period

BERKELEY, CALIF.—If you feel that present interest rates for credit accommodations are too high, just be thankful that you didn't live in the Neo-Babylonian period. The average interest rate then was 20 per cent.

The loan shark tendencies of the ancients were related by Dr. Henry F. Lutz, professor of Egyptology and Assyriology at the University of California. He discovered that the interest paid by the Babylonians on loans for house rent would have been sufficient to pay the year's rent by itself.

"The lot of a person in straitened circumstances was thus no easy one within the confines of the Neo-Babylonian kingdom, and no Babylonian solon came to the rescue of those in financial distress," Dr. Lutz added.

The savant came across an interesting debenture on a tiny tablet belonging to a lender who was kind enough to hold his interest rate to 16 2/3 per cent. This advance called for one-half mina or one-quarter of a kilogram of silver to the borrower, and it also called for the pledging of all of the borrower's property "in town and country."

Lost Trails of Southwest

Viewed From Airplanes

LUBBOCK, TEXAS.—Early Indian and cattle trails of Texas, almost invisible on the ground, are easily distinguished from an airplane, says William Pearce, history instructor at Texas technological college.

"In parts of the Yellowhouse canyon country that never have been under cultivation, stunted shrubbery and a different colored soil marks trails beyond doubt," he says. "Indian trails are amazingly straight but cattle trails follow the contour of the land."

Girls Shed Stockings

To Help War Budget

CHAPEL EN LE FRITH, ENGLAND.—Some 250 girls employed in a factory here hope to put $4,500 a year into the national war chest by working bare-legged.

When they were asked to start a savings group, they proposed that the factory management relax its ban on bare legs so they could save stocking money.

Great Britain's Present Anxiety in East Seldom Paralleled

If Either Japan or Spain Should Join Axis Crisis For England Would Be Severe

Britain Might Be Able to Swing Aid of Russia, for Signs Are That Union Sooner or Later Might Have to Fight Nazis, Nipponese

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

There have been few such anxious moments in the war for England as the present while she waits to learn whether powerful Japan and strategically placed Spain will add their weight to that of the Berlin-Rome axis in an effort to crack the British empire up for division among the four.

Adherence of either Nippon or Spain to the axis would shake Britain badly. Should both of them rush in for the kill, it would create a situation of extreme gravity.

However, should this position of four-against-one materialize, the question at once will arise as to whether England will have to face this storm alone or whether she may expect aid. First off, we shall want to know what Russia will do, for this vast union would be a mighty factor.

The Muscovites may be credited with expecting that sooner or later (probably sooner) they must fight both Germany and Japan. And when all is said and done, Russia and Britain in most respects would be natural allies against this ambitious quartet of self-appointed cartographers who would remap a goodly portion of the globe. This most powerful of the Balkan states, leader not only in the Balkans but among near eastern countries and guardian of the vasty important Dardanelles, is England's good friend, but has been sitting tight thus far—in large part because of Russian pressure. They told me in Ankara not long before the war that the Turks placed their trust in Britain as in no other nation, and there is no indication of change of heart.

Another Big 'If'

Another big "if" is the great Moslem world which might follow the lead of Egypt—thus far England's ally. A holy war would raise a hothouse with the nations against which it was directed, for there are few things more terrible. There might be other sources of aid which don't at this moment stand out. In any event, England doubtless would have hopes of substantial aid from somebody or other.

It certainly will seem an ironic circumstance to British Premier Churchill and his fighting folk if they have to take on this aided burden now, just as they have demonstrated that they may have chances of beating Germany and Italy. It is, of course, the strength of the British resistance and counter-attack which has driven Hitler to try to draw Spain and Japan into the conflict to help finish the job. The Nazi chief wouldn't split his spoils of conquest four ways if he didn't have to.

Of the two eventualities—the entrance of Spain or of Japan into the war—the Spanish possibility seems to me to present the greater immediate danger to Britain. Either of these would in all conscience be bad enough, but the hostility of Spain would threaten the security of mother England herself.

Hitler's Chief Purpose

Hitler's chief purpose in bringing in Spain would be to secure

Fuehrer Gathers Women, Children To Chancellery

Hitler Retires to Safety of Air Raid Shelter and Offers Fairy Tales for Kids

Berlin, Sept. 26 (AP)—Every night when an air raid alarm screams through the vast German capital Adolf Hitler, as an example to the German people, retires immediately to a spacious air raid shelter under his palatial new Reich chancellery and remains there until the all clear signal is given.

At present about 100 children and 30 women who either are expectant mothers or who have just become mothers are brought to the chancellery shelter nightly. Others who greet the fuhrer are his major-domo, adjutants, officials on night duty and servants.

The shelter is being expanded now to make room for 600 children and 120 expectant mothers and new mothers.

In Berlin they are saying the shelter of the chancellery is the capital's "safest lying-in hospital." Physicians and nurses are in attendance.

Late every afternoon women and children living in the poorer quarters of the city, where air raid shelters are inadequate, are brought to the chancellery in omnibuses.

There they are given a supper. After that, until bedtime, there is such entertainment as fairy tales told by kindergarten teachers, Punch-and-Judy shows or children's dances.

Hitler often visits the children before they fall asleep.

Later the expectant women will not be shuttled back and forth from their homes but will be kept at the chancellery throughout the day and night.

KRIPPLEBUSH

Kripplebush, Sept. 26 — The school tax collector, Claude Christiana, will collect taxes each week-day at his home until October 19 at 1 per cent, thereafter until November 19 at 5 per cent. The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church will serve a hot turkey supper at the lodge hall Tuesday evening, October 8, starting at 5 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Hofmeister and family are spending a few days in the city.

Mrs. L. M. Roosa entertained relatives and friends from Poughkeepsie and Kingston, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Van De-mark spent Saturday evening in Kingston.

DE TRISTANS MEET SON'S RESCUERS

It was a happy day for the Count and Countess Marc de Tristan at their Hillsborough, Calif., home when they met Cecil Wetzel (seated, left) and Ellis Woods (seated, right), the men who rescued their three-year-old son, Marc, Jr., from the hands of a kidnaper. Meanwhile, the F. B. I. announced that Wilhelm Muhlenbroich, held in the kidnaping, had made up a list of between 100 and 125 Bay Area families who might be good "prospective victims."

Willkie Formulates Big October Drive Calling For 20 Major Addresses

Nominee to Give Speech At Omaha on Raising Farm Income; Has Platform Talks

Aboard Willkie train enroute to Omaha, Sept. 26 (AP)—Back in the midwest for a speech at Omaha at 8:30 C.S.T. tonight, outlining his views on raising farm income, Wendell L. Willkie formulated today a heavy October campaign schedule calling for 20 major addresses in key states.

As the Republican presidential nominee swung down through South Dakota after a two weeks tour of the west, he arranged to devote the remainder of his drive for votes to the populous eastern half of the country.

He will speak on foreign policy in Cleveland October 2, when he said he would offer further evidence criticizing President Roosevelt's handling of international problems.

To Discuss 'Bosses'

Later in the month he is expected to discuss "political bosses" in a Missouri speech assailing the Pendergast Democratic organization. Philadelphia will be among the cities where he will talk, and Republican leaders are assuming he will close his campaign in Madison Square Garden, New York, on November 2.

Willkie worked on his Omaha speech yesterday between rear platform appearances in eastern Montana and North Dakota. He told an audience at Dickinson, N. D., "I want to give the farmer something more than just a dose. I want to give to the farmer markets. I want to give to the farmer an expanding economy instead of a declining economy."

"Here we are, after seven and a half years of the New Deal and the farmers' proportion of the national income is no more than it was seven and a half years ago."

Appearances in 16 States

When Willkie reaches Omaha, he will have spoken in 16 states since leaving Chicago in the middle of September. These states have 162 electoral votes, nearly one third of the total to be cast. The nominee, telling reporters he was pleased with his western reception, figured that he saw 2,000,000 persons.

Willkie's greetings to train-side audiences yesterday were informal. At Dickinson he introduced his "Baby brother, Ed," former Navy football star who towers over the nominee. At several stops, when there were calls for Mrs. Willkie to speak, her husband said with a chuckle: "She never talks in public, but she makes plenty of speeches to me in private."

Krom Divorces Wife

Charles D. Krom of Ellenville has been granted an interlocutory judgment of divorce from his wife, Alice Krom. Testimony in the case was taken before Justice Pierce H. Russell in Albany in July. Lawrence Levine appeared for the plaintiff. The marriage took place in Port Jervis on April 14, 1932 and the acts upon which the decree is based allegedly took place in the town of Wawarsing between December 1 and December 15, 1939.

Wallace Reports Granary System Working in U. S.

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 26 (AP)—"The ever normal granary program is working. The nation's farm cash income has risen from $4,700,000,000 in 1932 to $9,000,000,000 in 1940," Henry A. Wallace told a political rally last night.

"Take the experience of corn and hog producers, for example," he said. "Without the corn loan, prices would have been less than 25 cents (per bushel) last year. Hog supplies are being brought into line with markets by the corn loan and corn acreage allotments and the price of hogs on the farm in recent weeks has averaged nearly $7 a hundred."

"The corn loan assures cooperating farmers of a loan value on their corn which this fall is likely to be 61 cents a bushel."

Wallace made the major farm address of his 7,000-mile western campaign swing in the same city where he said Roosevelt "really converted me" to his policies. He said "you found in Roosevelt a man  with courage to balance up the scales in your behalf."

"Now you have the sympathetic and understanding help of a friendly Congress, and a just supreme court."

Hansen, Mrs. Theresa Slater, Mrs. Ellsworth Doyle, Miss Florence Kruse, Mrs. Charles Van Orden, and Miss Anna Wolf.

Mrs. J. E. Sammond of Woodhaven, L. I., is the house guest of Mrs. Ed Hotelling.

Mrs. Nancy Decker and son, Walter Decker, of South Fallsburg, called Tuesday on Mrs. Decker's daughter, Mrs. Floyd Beesmer.

Members of the Fire Company will meet at the fire house Saturday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock to participate in the parade at Esopus. They will parade in citizens' clothes and not in uniform.

The Reformed Church choir will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock. A social hour will follow the rehearsal. Members are urged to be present since this is the first meeting of the fall season.

Troop 19, Girl Scouts, will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Reformed Church house.

West Point Graduate Dies In Tragic Aftermath to Murders in Bronx Park

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Four tragic deaths were linked today to the dismissal of a young father from his job.

Robert Fletcher Sadler, a sales executive for International Business Machines Corp., leaped to his death from Manhattan Bridge yesterday, apparently inconsolable in the belief that a report he had made on a subordinate caused the latter's discharge.

Less than a day before, the former employee, Donal O'Reilly, had shot to death his two young sons and then killed himself after a frantic search for work during which he kept the loss of his job a secret.

Sadler, 32, a West Point graduate, learned of the murders and suicide yesterday.

His immediate superior, Charles S. Scott, told police Sadler was shocked when he heard of O'Reilly's death, because of a report he had made on the man's ability as an installation worker.

"He told me he was responsible for it," Scott said, "although I tried to make him realize that his was only one of several reports on O'Reilly which resulted in his dismissal."

Sadler, married and the father of two children, stopped his automobile on the bridge, climbed to the railing and jumped into the East River as other motorists ran to stop him.

zones which expect to import large numbers of workers in war plants to determine how many vacant houses were available.

Last Monday Mayor Heiselman spent several hours conferring with Mrs. Andree Emery, of the local state housing division, on the local situation. The mayor took the inspection trip of Kingston homes in all sections of the city.

The mayor said he had invited the officers of the local real estate board to be present next Tuesday so that the housing problem could be discussed in connection with industrial prospects.

The mayor stated that he understood that there were few desirable vacant houses in Kingston at the present time.

To Cooperate

Kingston was assured, the mayor stated, of the cooperation and assistance of the state housing department in meeting any local housing problem.

The Kingston industrial committee has just completed a survey of the local industrial situation with particular reference to Kingston getting its just share of the business which will result from the national defense program.

The survey indicated that some increase in manufacturing is apparent in this city and a number of manufacturers of primary and secondary defense materials are preparing to bid for government orders.

Allan L. Hanstein, chairman of the Kingston Industrial Committee, was in Washington last week for the purpose of getting some business for Kingston and meeting various officials of the National Defense Council and the War Department. He found out that the government is purchasing all kinds of articles in large quantities and is seeking manufacturers equipped to produce these articles with dispatch.

All Invited

The industrial committee is issuing an invitation to all manufacturers of the city and adjacent area to meet in the office of the industrial committee in the city hall next Tuesday, October 1, at 4 p. m., for the purpose of discussing ways and means of contacting the proper authorities in Washington in order that Kingston industries may get their full share of the work now being given out, and which will hereafter be awarded in the national defense program.

All manufacturers, no matter what type of article they make, are urged to attend this meeting. All members of the industrial committee are urged to be present also.

Mr. Hanstein stated that his committee and Mayor Heiselman have been working for some months in an attempt to get a manufacturing plant making war materials of a type that should utilize local labor and that the War Department has expressed definite interest in accepting this proposal. Negotiations along this line are continuing.

Another prospect which is developing satisfactorily and on which a definite decision is expected within the next two weeks is the location in Kingston of a branch factory of a substantial mid-western company which manufactures metalware and which employs only men.

COTTEKILL

Cottekill, Sept. 27.—The annual chicken supper of the Cottekill Reformed Church will be served in the church hall Thursday, October 10 from 5:30 o'clock until all are served.

Rally Day will be observed at both the Sunday school and church services Sunday, September 29. A special program has been prepared for the Sunday school, which will be at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The church service is at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. M. Hoffman delivering his farewell sermon. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bernard and son, Richard, of Binghamton and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wells and children, of Gardiner, called on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hicks Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Addis spent the week-end with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Tenhagen, in Connecticut.

Marshall McCabe, Jr., of Brooklyn, who spent last week with his aunt, Mrs. Oscar Beach, returned home Monday.

Mrs. Charles Signor spent a few days with her brother, Floyd Gillespie, and family, in Philadelphia.

Miss Anna Short of Pocantico Hills spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Nellie Short.

Mrs. Alfred Pietro Belli and Mrs. Melvin Short spent Sunday at the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. James Pine called on Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rask in Rosendale Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Henrietta Hunt and Mrs. Sarah Young of Tilton were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hicks Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Mary Barringer returned home last week from a vacation with her daughter, Mrs. Tillie Sutton, in Philmont.

Mrs. Frank Liebler and daughter, Patsy, of Tilton, called on Mr. Robert Hicks Wednesday afternoon.

They're 'Agin' Times

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 26 (AP).—In a statement published on the front page of today's Chattanooga Times, a Democratic campaign spokesman urged Times readers to cancel their subscriptions in protest against the newspaper's editorial support of Republican Presidential candidate Wendell Willkie. Fletcher Morgan, Democratic campaign manager for Hamilton county, also asked in the statement that supporters of President Roosevelt use their influence against merchants advertising in the Times "at least until after the November election."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 26 (AP).—Efforts to revive stock prices met with scant success in today's market.

Small gains appeared at the opening, but the majority of these were soon cancelled. Declines, running to a point or more for steel and other leaders at the worst, were trimmed in some cases near the final hour. There were frequent slow-downs after the start. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 450,000 shares.

Brokers generally blamed the retreat mainly on the somewhat more confusing character of international news. Chilling rallying tendencies, it was suggested, was the threat of further United States complications in the Far East, withdrawal of the British from Dakar and intensified air bombing of England and Germany. At the same time, stepping up of defense spending at home still was viewed as a bolstering speculative influence.

Bonds turned a bit ragged, as did commodities. Securities at London just about held their own.

Among faltering stocks were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Anaconda, Kennecott, Santa Fe, Dow Chemical and Western Union.

Some of the recently buoyant preferred shares slipped.

Lagging in the curb were Bell Aircraft, Aluminum of America, Colts Patent Firearms, Seaman Bros. and Todd Shipyards.

Panama Tolls Cut $2,516,346 by War

Further Decline in Gross Operations Expected.

BALBOA, C. Z.—The war reduced the tolls of the Panama Canal during the fiscal year ending June 30 by $2,516,346, and cargo handled by 567,611 tons, according to the current issue of the Canal Record, though cargo carried by United States vessels increased 3,475,237 tons to a total of 12,384,617 tons. The total tolls for the year was $21,144,675, and of cargo 27,290,016 tons.

British traffic was reduced 429 ships and 1,019,205 tons of cargo. Nevertheless, 1,073 ships carried 5,182,351 tons through the canal.

No German ships have used the canal since the war started and their traffic was reduced by 306 ships and 1,339,501 tons of cargo.

Italian traffic, also stopped since the declaration of war, was reduced by only 7,956 tons of cargo, because of the use of larger ships, like the 25,000-ton Conte di Biancamano, now tied up at Cristobal.

Norway's total, cut as a result of ships sunk by submarines or tied up in home ports because the German invasion, was down 147 in ships and 502,306 tons in cargo.

Although ships flying the flag of the Netherlands increased 28 for a total of 340, the average size was smaller and they carried only 617,948 tons of cargo, as compared with 675,105 in the 1939 fiscal year.

A further decline both of ships and cargo is expected for the duration of the war.

General Grant's Summer Home Is Being Restored

ST. LOUIS.—White Haven, the home to which Ulysses S. Grant dreamed of retiring to lead the life of a country squire but in the end was forced to give up, is undergoing restoration to its original state by its present occupants.

Grant did come back to the old home for a time. In front of the house he planted two linden saplings from the Unter den Linden in Berlin and a ginkgo tree from Japan. On the land he built a stable with 20 box stalls for the horses he planned to breed.

The tired soldier never achieved his desired retirement, however, and saw his well-laid plans smashed. He had been on the estate only a short time when the crash of a brokerage firm in which he was interested in New York caused him to go there in an attempt to salvage whatever he could from the ruins.

White Haven, built in 1809, he gave up to creditors. Albert Wenzlick, who acquired the house through foreclosure, has made White Haven his home and is directing the restoration. Meanwhile, the historic American buildings survey is doing research with the view of making a permanent record of the old home.

Conventional Meetings

Are Found Best in Love STATE COLLEGE, PA.—Girls who meet their fiancés at college or at home have a better chance for a happy married life than those who meet their prospective husbands while away on vacation, results of tests conducted by the psycho-educational clinic of Pennsylvania State college indicate.

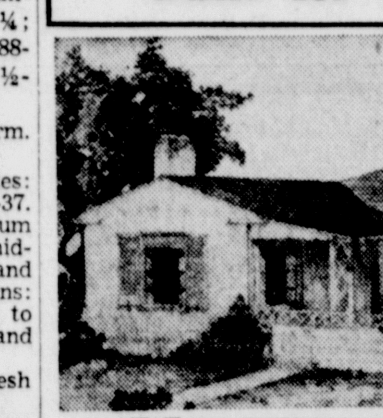

The tests, conducted by Dr. Robert G. Bernreuter, head of the clinic, showed that "more happy marriages result from meetings under circumstances that are 'socially approved' than from unconventional meetings."

Costa Rica Raises Bar

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA.—The Costa Rican government has decided to prohibit all immigration from Europe and has notified its consulates in Europe to that effect. The newspaper La Hora announced that Italian residents here who belong to mobilized classes of the Italian army had been notified to be ready for orders to go home.

A Pedigreed Home

New Spanish-Type Bungalow Built for Sun Worshipers

AP Feature Service

Inspiration for this sun-worshiper's bungalow came from Southern California, and the design makes a cheery, pleasant interior possible.

Note that the living room and master bedroom have three-way exposures, with wide, modern, corner windows.

The dining room off the walled patio is an attractive touch reflecting Spanish influence. Exterior finish of stucco over frame construction adds to the hacienda touch of this low-cost dwelling.

Overall cost, exclusive of the building site, would average around $4,250 in most sections of the United States. Lending agencies affiliated with the Federal Home Loan Bank board, or the FHLB office in Washington, D. C., can supply additional details concerning this ultra-modern home. The agency will also supervise construction if desired.

Warner Is Elected Leader of Legion

Toledo Attorney Is Named on First Ballot as Fields Withdraws

Boston, Sept. 26 (AP)—Milo J. Warner, Toledo, O., attorney, was elected national commander of the American Legion today in a landslide on the first ballot.

The contest for the most prized of all Legion posts was settled quickly after the veterans' organization, at the closing session of its 22nd annual convention, decided overwhelmingly against a declaration in favor of U. S. neutrality.

After a heated floor fight, the Legionnaires shouted down an amendment favoring neutrality in all foreign affairs dealings, thus reversing an unbroken policy of the organization for the last 16 years.

The floor battle for the national command, which had started as an apparently tight contest between ten candidates, was over almost before it began. State delegations holding more than 700 votes, a majority, seconded the nomination of Warner, thus virtually assuring his victory.

On the first ballot, Raymond Fields of Guthrie, Okla., who was Warner's closest rival, conceded the election before the roll was half called and arose to move that the election be made unanimous.

Link to Hemisphere Defense

Dakar is the nearest point on the African coast to South America. Planes of the French transatlantic air service, now inoperative, normally hop off there.

St. Pierre-Miquelon is a possible subject for action by the American republics under the agreements reached recently at Havana. These provided for establishment of provisional administrations in any foreign possessions in this hemisphere which were threatened with a change of sovereignty.

Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, has said that if France became a Fascist dependency of Germany in any foreign possessions which were in this hemisphere, it would create an emergency in this hemisphere requiring action under the Havana agreements.

The reopening of consulates at St. Pierre-Miquelon and Dakar fits into a pattern which has been developing ever since the Germans invaded Denmark.

In April, this government established a consulate in Iceland, which has since taken over its own government, for the duration of the German occupation of Denmark, the prerogatives concerning Iceland which ordinarily are exercised by the Danish king.

In May, the state department sent a consul to Greenland, a Danish colony in the North Atlantic and a possible stepping stone to the Americas for any power seeking to attack this country by air.

Another consulate has been reopened recently at Martinique, a French island in the Caribbean, where trouble has been threatening over a cargo of American-made planes aboard the French aircraft carrier Bearn. British warships have been reported maintaining a watch to see that the carrier did not leave Martinique.

Still another consulate was established on July 23 at Georgetown, British Guiana, in South America. A consular agent was already stationed in neighboring Dutch Guiana.

Fort Douglas, Historic

SALT LAKE CITY.—When the Thirty-eighth infantry leaves Salt Lake City's historic Fort Douglas for a new assignment in the South, a military occupation begun in bitterness and bloodshed will have ended.

Although the fort is to be utilized as an air base, with an expected 1,500 men to be quartered there, no more infantry troops will be quartered there.

The fort was founded in the early days of Salt Lake City, and against the wishes of the Mormon pioneers. The encroachment of United States troops on the then state of Deseret was interpreted as an act of virtual warfare.

For several years the city existed in what amounted to a state of siege, and it was not until the end of the Civil war that the pioneer colony acting on the orders of President Brigham Young made its peace with the soldiery.

A Perfect Work Record

BROKEN AFTER 30 YEARS FAIRFIELD, CONN.—Town Assessor Edgar Banks recently missed his first day at work in 30 years.

A slight case of stomach trouble, for which he refused treatment, kept Banks at home after a generation and a half of perfect attendance.

Bedbug Found Cause

Of Sleeping Sickness WASHINGTON.—Discovery of a bedbug which causes sound sleep—but the wrong kind—was reported by the public health service.

The bug, which is the "grandfather" of all bedbugs because it is several times larger than the ordinary insects, carries the germ of sleeping sickness from man to man and from animals to man, said Dr. Arzroony Pakchian, of the National Institute of Health.

Holiday Is Possible

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—State Education Commissioner Ernest E. Cole today empowered school authorities to declare October 16 a holiday for pupils whose classrooms may be needed for draft registration purposes. He said the absence would not mean a loss in state aid, which is computed on the basis of daily attendance.

Listening Posts Set Up by U. S.

To Watch French Holdings In Atlantic for Moves By Germany.

WASHINGTON.—Diplomatic lookouts for the United States government will be established at Dakar, French West Africa, a "jumping-off place" for planes flying from Europe to South America, and at St. Pierre-Miquelon, a French possession off the coast of Canada.

This was disclosed in a state department announcement of changes, ordered recently in the foreign service.

The announcement said that the consulate at Dakar, which was closed in 1931 as part of an economy drive, would be reopened as soon as Thomas C. Wasson of Newark could arrive from Vigo, Spain, to take charge.

Likewise, it was said, the consulate at St. Pierre-Miquelon, which was closed only last January for lack of business, would be reopened as quickly as Maurice Pasquet of New York reached there from Dairen, Manchuria, where he has been vice consul.

St. Pierre-Miquelon is a possible subject for action by the American republics under the agreements reached recently at Havana. These provided for establishment of provisional administrations in any foreign possessions in this hemisphere which were threatened with a change of sovereignty.

Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, has said that if France became a Fascist dependency of Germany in any foreign possessions which were in this hemisphere, it would create an emergency in this hemisphere requiring action under the Havana agreements.

The reopening of consulates at St. Pierre-Miquelon and Dakar fits into a pattern which has been developing ever since the Germans invaded Denmark.

In April, this government established a consulate in Iceland, which has since taken over its own government, for the duration of the German occupation of Denmark, the prerogatives concerning Iceland which ordinarily are exercised by the Danish king.

In May, the state department sent a consul to Greenland, a Danish colony in the North Atlantic and a possible stepping stone to the Americas for any power seeking to attack this country by air.

(By The Associated Press)

No Contest
Lepanto, Ark. — Politics had nothing to do with the outcome of the annual American Legion territorial derby.

Terrapins named "Roosevelt" and "Willkie" never moved from the starting line. The winner was "Shanghai Lil."

Handy With Andy
Kinston, N. C. — Authorities were hard put figuring a way to recapture Andy, a surly 350-pound brown bear who escaped from his cage, until Keeper Ed Phillips remembered Andy's fondness for cookies.

With a big box of the goodies, Phillips lured the animal step by step from the porch of a woman's club house to his quarters.

Credentials
Santa Monica, Calif. — The cre-

There was no record of a turnout.

Communique
Sioux City, Ia. — Answering complaints that the traditional greeting of Kiwanis Club members resembles the Nazi salute, Bernard Caine, president of the Sioux City Club, told objectors:

"Hitler will have to change his salute; we invented it long before Hitler was ever heard of and it's ours."

Close Shave
Chicago — Odd jobs man Leon Abrams, picked up on a disorderly conduct charge, beat the rap by a whisker.

Police told the court that "Abrams stays out of trouble, but we sometimes get complaints because women are frightened by his heavy beard."

The judge directed Abrams to shave off the foliage and said that the charge would be dismissed.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Sept. 25—October 4 is the date set for the food sale for the benefit of the Marlborough Methodist Sunday School. Mrs. Doyle Hutchins, Jr., and Mrs. Harry Lyons are in charge and will take orders and deliver. Orders may be telephoned in, if the members do not call.

Last Wednesday afternoon in the Central School, members of the program committee of the Marlborough Parent-Teacher Association and the president, Mrs. Olaf Sundstrom, met to continue plans for the coming year. Miss Winifred Bewick is the program chairman. Others on the committee are: Mr. Kingsley, Miss Joanne Grady, Mrs. Cornelius Eckerson and Miss Anna O'Donnell. The first P.T.A. meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, October 9, in the school building. A reception for members of the faculty will be held.

Esmond Gallagher of Schenectady spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gallagher on Main street.

Adolph Froemel, who is in Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, following an auto accident, is slowly improving.

Miss Catherine Cumiskey has resumed her duties as teacher of the sixth grade in the Marlborough Central School following a few days illness with the grip, which confined her to her bed.

Thomas Prizzia, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Prizzia of Marlborough, was among the men leaving Newburgh Monday morning for their year's training at Fort Dix.

Mrs. William Badner was a guest of honor at a shower held in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Andrews, with Mrs. Milton Cosman and Mrs. Ralph Cosman hostesses. Mrs. Badner is the former Catherine Andrews. The bride received a number of gifts, which she found by following strings to the ends of which packages were found. Cards were played and refreshments served. About 21 guests from West Marlborough, Milton, Balmville and Newburgh were present.

Mrs. William Gier has returned to her home in Jersey City following a visit with her sister, Mrs. Roy Barry and family.

Miss Betty DallVechia returned to Oneonta Monday to resume her studies in college.

Allan Steinback of Poughkeepsie recently visited his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Steinback, on West street.

Mrs. Jack Casey recently entertained Mrs. Carmen Graziosi and sons of Mineola, L. I.

George Smith of Roseton recently visited Mr. and Mrs. George Haberle, Jr.

Work of Draft Board Discussed By Samuel Stern

Samuel Stern, who was recently recommended as a member of Kingston's draft board and who also was chairman of Kingston's draft board during the World War, gave an interesting talk on the duties and difficulties connected with the work of the last draft board at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The speaker, who is president of the board of Elmira State Reformatory, stated that he is endeavoring to obtain a new ruling in regard to certain inmates of that institution being eligible for military service. The law as it now stands, he said, prohibits these young men, who have transgressed the law from entering military service, despite the fact that they do not lose their citizenship or their right to vote. He said he has always and still maintains that it is wrong to send young men, who have never been convicted to fight for a principle, and bar men who have been convicted and yet permit them to enjoy the privileges of citizens.

His advocacy of service was not for all men in the reformatory. There was no place in the army for those charged with murder, manslaughter, burglary or other serious crimes. But young men in the institution who through bad company or environment had transgressed the law in petty cases and who were physically fit should be sent into the army. At the institution they receive military training. At least nine hours a week are devoted to training these men along military lines and the authorities report good results.

If the law was changed approximately 1,000 of these young men would be available for military service from Elmira Reformatory.

In his discussion of the operations of the last draft, the speaker stressed the need for men who had courage in making decisions. Threats to life and limb were numerous, but in the conscientious performance of duty there was little to fear.

He also told a number of anecdotes in the connection with the draft board selections. A number were sent to the training camps and later returned because of the loss of eye teeth. When a visit was made by a major from the camp instructing the board to be more careful, to the astonishment of the major the man in question had all his teeth.

Another conscript was returned because he took fits. Several he said did try to get away with it by eating soap. He believed the board then was not misled in its selections and will not be misled at this time.

That the examining boards in the camps were not entirely accurate in their hasty examinations was proven when he passed a soldier with a glass eye who was anxious to serve. This young man got by the army examiners, went overseas, made a first rate soldier, saw heavy action and returned a happy warrior.

Economy was another matter that the speaker discussed. He saw no reason for spending the people's money recklessly with the result that the members, who served without compensation, had served long hours. In taking a contingent to camp, he told of the attempt to overcharge the draftees for food.

He said he did not expect the draft board to have the large amount of work that the last board had, but he would call on members of the service clubs and other citizens, if help was needed.

He praised the work of the CCC camp and he said if it wasn't for a number of sob sisters, these young men would have had valuable military service now and would be ready for greater service. He said the interference by many well-meaning but misguided people have obstructed many a good piece of legislation.

In closing he advocated that young men physically fit join up for service for a year as the training would be very beneficial.

Too Small To Know Better

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—For more than two hours men at the North Island naval air station watched a plane circle overhead in defiance of Uncle Sam's defense laws. Then it landed. The craft proved to be a toy powered by rubber bands. Air currents had kept it aloft.

How One Woman Lost 26 lbs. of Fat

—4 inches off Hips
—3 inches off Bust
7½ inches off Waist

Writes "I Feel Fine and Look 10 Years Younger"

How would you like to lose 26 to 28 pounds of fat in a few weeks? How would you like to lose your double chin and your too-prominent hips and abdomen and along with it feel better perhaps than you have in years?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh. Take half a teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of water first thing every morning. Cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar. After 30 days weigh yourself again—now you'll know the safe, easy, sensible way to lose fat.

Start today girls to get a more charming, attractive, slender figure. Kruschen comes in either the new pleasant, bubbling form or plain—a bottle usually lasts 4 weeks and is inexpensive.

United Drug Pharmacy and leading druggists all over America sell Kruschen Salts; if not supremely satisfied—money back.

General Johnson To Speak October 30

General Hugh S. Johnson, soldier, lawyer, manufacturer and newspaper columnist, will speak in Kingston Wednesday, October 30, at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Kingston College Women's Club. Last year the club brought H. V. Kaltenborn to Kingston as a benefit of the scholarship fund and the address met with such success that the College Women's Club is again presenting a prominent speaker for the same benefit.

General Johnson needs no introduction. Rooted deep in American soil of American pioneer life, this rough and ready Oklahoman has lived to conquer the trials and privations of the frontier and acquire an education, training and culture that few men possess.

General Johnson is one of the most captivating speakers of the times. In an original, colorful and thought-provoking message he holds his audience spellbound. He will discuss those phases of national economics, industry and government which are of greatest interest at this time.

The principal features of General Johnson's appearance are the rough and tumble question and answer period. He invites verbal questions on any national topic, with the bark off and no punches pulled by the questioner.

Coupled with this characteristic presence "you can razz me as much as you like but I won't razz you," it always brings hot questions and honest answers to the delight of all audiences.

Miss Mary Jane Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan J. Davis of 238 Albany avenue, has entered Edgewood Park School at Briarcliffe Manor.

Miss Elizabeth Fessenden of Washington, D. C., is spending a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fessenden at their home in Willow.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hornbeck of Rochester are guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Frank B. Seeley of Maiden Lane.

Mrs. Richard J. Cole of Poughkeepsie, a former resident of this city, has taken an apartment at 16 John street for a year. Her husband recently received his second lieutenant commission in the National Guard and will spend the year at Fort Dix, N. J.

Mrs. Joseph Craig was hostess to her card club on Wednesday at her home on Washington avenue.

Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw and Mrs. Laidlaw of Franklin street have returned from spending several days at Saranac Lake, where Mr. Laidlaw attended the Council of the New York State Supervisors.

A son was born Wednesday in the Kingston Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. George Farber of 97 West Chester street.

Edwin Fowler Sings At Playhouse Concert

Edwin Fowler, American bass-baritone, brought to a close Wednesday the three post season concerts at the Woodstock Playhouse which have been presented within the past two weeks. The first was a joint recital by Pierre Henrotte, violinist, and Vladimir Padwa, pianist, and the second a recital by Frederic Balazs, violinist.

The evening was cold and wet and not propitious to concert going which resulted in a small audience at the Playhouse. Despite the chill of the building the few who were in attendance showed great enthusiasm for the program.

Mr. Fowler has a rich, resonant, wholly satisfying voice, which was well controlled in all his numbers. In fact, his voice was too big for the building. Given a larger hall and an audience which crowded the floor, Mr. Fowler would be in his prime.

His diction, particularly the German, was clear, and he was best in the operatic excerpts in which he could give his dramatic abilities full play. The German lieder was given a little different understanding with his more dramatic interpretations than are usually heard.

In his English group, Mr. Fowler sang three Negro spirituals with deep sympathy and feeling and the dramatic number "When the King Goes Forth."

Vladimir Padwa accompanied Mr. Fowler at the piano and as a pianist was always good and equalled former performances despite the handicap of cold fingers.

Sorority to Entertain
Sigma Delta Chi sorority will entertain this evening for the members of Beta Chi sorority. The party will be held at the Hebrew School on Post street at 8:30 o'clock. The new members of the sorority are Mrs. Harry Jacobs and Miss Ethel Levine.

Young-Nagle
Miss Anna C. Nagle of Glen street and Joseph J. Young of Ruby, were united in marriage by the Rev. J. W. Hughes of St. Ann's Church in Sawkill, on September 22. They were attended by Miss Josephine Dugan of Newkirk avenue and James M. Young of Ruby.

Card Party Tonight
The annual card party of the Catholic Daughters of America will be held this evening at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Playing will begin at 8:30 o'clock. It is expected that from 40 to 50 tables will be in play.

Suppers-Food Sales
Ladies of the Flatbush Reformed Church will hold their annual turkey supper in the church hall on Tuesday evening, October 15. The Women's Service League of Elmendorf street, will serve a turkey cafeteria supper Thursday, October 10. A delightful menu is being prepared.

Embarrassing Poundage Melts On This Easy Diet

Reduce the Low-Calory Way

No, nobody lets you forget it when you're fat! Your hostess plainly fears you'll damage her daintier chairs, friends often hint, "Haven't you gained?"

The only thing to do is—reduce! You can easily on a low-calory diet, losing as much as two pounds a week.

And only when you know which are high-calory foods and which low-calory can you be sure you've reversed that gaining process.

You may have been choosing "substitutes" for candy, taking only "plain" desserts. But a small bag of peanuts has 300 calories, a serving of work-a-day bread pudding, 800! Much fewer calories in 3 chocolate peppermints, 100; in coffee jelly with whipped cream, 110.

So, cleave to your calory chart. Easy then to keep to your 1200-calories-a-day reducing allowance—and still have meals as tasty as this one. Only 428 calories in 1 cup consommé, 1 lean lamb chop, baked potato and butter, 1 cup broccoli, 4 stalks celery, 1 cup Spanish cream.

Our 32-page booklet gives you 42 low-calory menus. Has a calory chart, a 3-day liquid diet to start your reducing; includes menus for gaining.

Sweetbreads Dainty Fare For Parties

Creamed, Braised, Alone, Or in Some Tempting Combination

When you want something extra special for a real occasion such as a wedding breakfast or a festive luncheon party, serve sweetbreads. These are a delicacy but they are easy to prepare and can be served either alone or in some tasty combination as the main dish on a variety of dainty menus.

Sweetbreads are the thymus glands of beef, calf and lamb. They consist of two parts, the heart sweetbread and the throat sweetbread. Sweetbreads are prepared and served in much the same way as brains. They are often creamed, sometimes with chicken or veal. They are also used in salads.

Sweetbreads and brains should be used or at least pre-cooked soon after they are purchased.

The usual way to prepare sweetbreads is to soak them in cold water, then to remove the membrane and simmer for 15 minutes in water to which one teaspoon of salt and a tablespoon of lemon juice or vinegar has been added for each quart of water. The sweetbreads should be thoroughly cooked, then drained and dropped into cold water. Then they may be served in a number of tempting ways.

Braised Sweetbreads
Another way of cooking sweetbreads is to braise them. Pre-

Sweetbreads are a real delicacy for your luncheon party. They may be creamed or they may be cooked by braising and served with vegetables. Sweetbreads are first soaked in cold water; then the membrane is removed. For braising, they are floured and browned in fat, then covered and cooked slowly. Diced carrots and green peas are cooked with them, as shown here. Crisp hot rolls and tempting sweet pickles are included in this party menu.

Cooking is not necessary. They are soaked as usual and the membranes removed. Then they are floured or rolled in cracker crumbs and browned in fat and after that are covered and cooked slowly for about 20 minutes. Vegetables such as carrots and peas may be cooked with the sweetbreads.

Here are two attractive ways to serve sweetbreads.

Creamed Sweetbreads

1 pair sweetbreads

1/4 cup blanched almonds

1/2 cup small button mushrooms

2 tablespoons butter

2 tablespoons flour

1 cup milk

Salt and pepper

1 egg

Simmer sweetbreads for 20 minutes in water to which one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon vinegar have been added for each quart. Drain and plunge into cold water. Detach any membrane. Break into small pieces. Brown the ham, green pepper, pimientos, and well drained mushrooms in butter. Stir in six tablespoons flour. Add milk and seasonings. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add sweetbreads and cook until they are thoroughly heated.

Serve in patty shells or on toast, baking powder biscuits or Chinese noodles.

Creamed Ham and Sweetbreads

4 sweetbreads

1 pound diced smoked ham

1/2 cup chopped green pepper

2 chopped pimientos

1 can mushrooms

4 tablespoons butter

6 tablespoons flour

2 cups milk

Salt and pepper

Simmer sweetbreads for 20 minutes in water to which one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon vinegar have been added for each quart. Drain and plunge into cold water. Detach any membrane. Break into small pieces. Brown the ham, green pepper, pimientos, and well drained mushrooms in butter. Stir in six tablespoons flour. Add milk and seasonings. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Now Is Time for Seeding Lawns

Less Competition With Weeds at This Time

Geneva, N. Y., Sept. 26—The seeding of new lawns, especially those located in a shady area, and the re-seeding of old lawns is generally best accomplished in the fall, declares Prof. M. T. Munn, seed specialist at the State Experiment Station here. The fall is the natural time for grasses to seed themselves, points out this authority, who adds that in the fall of the year the temperature and soil conditions are ideal for the prompt germination of grass seeds and that usually the plants are well established before freezing weather sets in.

"Experiments supplemented by much practical experience show plainly that the cool days of the fall are the most favorable for the germination of the seeds of the turf grasses used in making a lawn," says Prof. Munn, who continues as follows: "Seeding may be done during the entire month of September. Fall seedings often escape the keen competition of weeds because the weeds are usually dormant at that time, also in cases where the weeds are usual, the grasses have a better opportunity to get started in the fall because the leaves have fallen from the trees and the grass does not have the harmful effect of the shade that it does in the spring.

"One should keep clearly in mind the fact that Kentucky bluegrass is really the basic grass for a general purpose lawn in New York state. One should be very careful about buying low-priced and low-quality lawn-seeding mixtures which are often loaded down with timothy, rye grass, and inert material and which contains 1 to 2 per cent of weed seeds. Read the label statements on the package carefully; they are required by law and are for your protection. If they are not plainly given, it may be better to refrain from considering the mixture.

"Kentucky bluegrass, the fescues, and bent grasses, together with white clover when desired, form the best lawn mixture. A strong clean grass seed stock secured from a reliable seedsmen and seeded carefully on a fertile, well-prepared soil is more than half the battle in lawn making. Some home owners are resorting to the practice of seeding pure Kentucky bluegrass seed in the fall and adding white clover in the spring."

YOUNG MATRON BEATEN TO DEATH

Dead from repeated blows on the head, Mrs. Ethel M. Atkins of Philadelphia, mother of three-year-old twin sons, was found in a deserted farm house near Horsham, Pa. The body was unclad except for stockings. Authorities were told that Mrs. Atkins' first husband was John Cicero Angier, relative of the wealthy Duke tobacco family. In this picture the victim was snapped with her husband, James, and their children.

Police Track Clues In Atkins Murder

Former Husband Offers Help to Police; Atkins at Loss for Reason

Horsham, Pa., Sept. 26 (AP)—Police tracked down meager clues today in the brutal club slaying of Mrs. Ethel M. Atkins, 35-year-old wife of a Philadelphia bricklayer and once married to John Cicero Angier, members of the wealthy Duke family.

Angier, who married again and is now living in Baltimore, Md., came to Norristown last night to help unravel the mystery surrounding the death of the one-time waitress, whose body was found late Tuesday in an abandoned farmhouse near this southeastern Pennsylvania village.

Angier is a nephew of Mrs. B. N. Duke, whose late husband helped found the family's tobacco fortune.

The body of the former Ethel Craft, nude except for stockings and one slipper, was found in an unoccupied farmhouse near here crumpled on a stairway. Her head had been beaten, apparently with a blood-stained club found on the floor.

The county prosecutor said Atkins could not explain his wife's presence in the farmhouse nearly 20 miles from their home. A wedding ring found on the woman's finger led to her identification 14 hours after her body was found.

Car Strikes Jug, But Boy Escapes

Lester Smith, 12, Runs in Front of Vehicle

Wednesday evening about 7 o'clock a boy, Lester Smith, 12, had a narrow escape from injury when he ran across Broadway in front of an auto driven by Louis

Jones of Connelly. Mr. Jones said when he saw the boy he applied his brakes and swerved his car to one side. The boy was carrying a glass jug in his hand. The jug was smashed but the boy was unhurt.

Robert Emerick of this city reported to the police that at 4:20 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the rear of his car was struck by an auto operated by James Turnbull of Manchester, Conn., on Albany avenue. No personal injuries were reported. Mr. Emerick said the other car pulled out from the curb into the rear of his machine.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Sees Wild Part Of Rio Grande

Pastor Explores Wonders Of Valley on Trips in 14-Foot Skiff.

MARFA, TEXAS.—A weary minister, whose vacations for three years have been spent in Rio Grande canyons of the proposed Big Bend National park area, has completed a cycle of exploration journeys on the picturesque stream that separates the United States and Mexico.

Using a 14-foot wooden skiff, carrying camera, film, bedding, tools and sketch boxes, the Rev. Milton F. Hill of Pecos floated down the Rio Grande through the wild Boquillas canyon region for one week. During that time he saw only five persons and one house.

Sculpture of the rock formations in this area, seldom seen by human eyes, is of wide variety and beauty, the minister said.

Rock Formation Named.

His third day out Hill discovered several unusual rock formations that he named. There was Jackrabbit Rock, consisting of two huge pinnacles of stone stretching aloft in such a way that they resemble the ears of a jackrabbit. Lizard Rock is a formation that appears like a massive lizard crawling its way up the corner of a cliff abutment several hundred feet high.

The Valley of a Thousand Springs is a section of the sand banks on the Texas side of the Rio Grande from which spurt at least 1,000 springs.

The minister suggested that the part of this region he explored should be called the Grand Canyon of Texas.

"I saw the wildest and most spectacular canyon country and the most abrupt changes—from savage, towering walls to low walls of limestone," he said. "Too, I believe there are the richest colors of nature."

Craggy Walls Tower.

The Rev. Mr. Hill said at one place there was a long stretch of water with dense cane growth on each side just in front of vertical, craggy walls that probably are 400 feet high, followed by a setback. Beyond the setback are huge flanges of orange-red rock and back of this buttress is another summit cliff. He considers the three great Rio Grande canyons, Santa Helena, Mariscal and the Boquillas, all of equal beauty and interest.

"The Santa Helena is a narrow gorge through great blocks of limestone," he said. "The Mariscal is also a gorge but it winds its way through what might be called a curved ridge. As for the Boquillas, it is interesting chiefly because of its towering cliffs and its gorgeous views of mountains on both sides of the river."

New Chemical Compounds For 1939 Reach 25,000

Organic chemists of the world made approximately 25,000 new chemical compounds in 1939, an increase of about 6 per cent, says a report by the American Chemical society. Biochemistry, closely allied to the organic field, basis of major advances in modern industry, registered an increase in activity of 5 per cent.

These gains were accomplished in the face of a general falling off of about one-half of 1 per cent in the published results of chemical research owing to war conditions in Europe, it is explained by Prof. E. J. Crane of Ohio State university, as editor of Chemical Abstract, in which the findings of the society's international science reporting system assembled.

"Analysis of the statistics indicates America's growing leadership in chemical research," the professor points out. "In the chemical age in which we now live the remarkable element carbon, as manipulated by the hands of an increasing number of organic chemists, is tending to dominate both industrial and theoretical chemical research," Professor Crane declares. "We can be thankful that the dominance of prolific King Carbon and his army of hundreds of thousands of compounds is principally beneficial."

"The interesting tendency of the compounds of this single element to assume a commanding position in chemical investigations has been particularly notable in the United States."

Owl Not Intelligent Bird I. Q. Test Reveals

From ancient Greek coins to modern fairy tales Judge Owl has maintained a tradition of wisdom, skillfully hiding behind unblinking round eyes his meager I. Q. In truth he is astonishingly near to being a bird moron. This champion bluffer's score on an intelligence test of what-should-be-known would be shocking.

Mr. Owl does not know how to build his own nest. He does not know what to eat. He does not know how to attack his prey. He does not know how to make love.

The owl lives in the deserted homes of "gophers," prairie dogs, squirrels, and woodpeckers. Sometimes he shares his apartment with "possums and rattlesnakes. In the South a few rent from alligators. Occasionally he crowds himself into man-made bird houses whose green roofs and white porches appeal to his desire for city conveniences. But, alas, although his friends are many among man and animals, he is a social outcast in birddom. Perhaps it is because of his B. O. (bird odor) and even his best friends won't tell him.

An owl eats everything, and later regrets it. If he captures a fat mouse he will bolt it down in as large bites as possible and as fast as possible, bones, hair and all. After he returns to the nest indigestion sets in, and the bones and hair are disgorged in the form of pellets. These pellets, often feathers, line the nest or fall to the ground below.

Recs Will Close Season Against Saugerties on Sunday

Two Men Return To Help Gridders

R.P.I. Mentor Welcomes Baker and Yager

The return of Lee Yager and Bob Baker to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's football team now brings the gridders to full strength. Injuries have been at a minimum during the first three weeks of practice.

Recent scrimmages held by the R.P.I. coach, Walt Nelson, have proven that his outstanding worries will be in molding a reserve line. The offense is way ahead of the defense with two backfields of nearly equal strength in working order.

Secondary candidates looking impressive are Captain Fred Schantz, Gus Geib, Sam Schwartz and Don Hoopes. In the second-string backfield are "Bull" McMullin, Art Newton, Don McFarland and Ed Haller.

Third Game Will Not Have Any Bearing on Title

Both Clubs Anxious to End Campaign With Victory; Neff and Brown Will Do Hurling

The finishing touches to a highly successful baseball season will be put on by Charlie Husta and his Kingston Recreations Sunday afternoon at municipal stadium when the Saugerties A. C. comes to town for the second time. Game time is 2:30 o'clock.

As far as that challenge thrown to the Recs by Manager Schultz of the A. C. is concerned, the Hustas have wrapped up the mythical county title. Last Sunday afternoon in Saugerties they routed Saugerties by 6 to 4 in 14 innings. The week previous Kingston dumped the paper town boys 6-3.

Following the clincher last week both managers had a short confab and agreed to play another game for the benefit of each club. Although a title bid may be missing, it is still going to be a Kingston-Saugerties clash and that should be enough.

As far as some of the experts can see the battle royals between these two stellar clubs has done more for baseball this season than any of those top-notch road attractions which have appeared here all summer.

Good Game Assured

Although Kingston has shown its superiority over the Schultz clan in the two games played to date, baseball followers in this section can be assured of seeing another typical fight to the finish when these two clubs meet Sunday at the stadium. In all probability it will be the final for each club.

The honor of pitching for Kingston in its final game of the season will fall on Charlie Neff, who opened for the Recs last week but failed to see the finish. Charlie appeared to be in better form Sunday than he had been for weeks but still lacked the necessary stuff to go the distance. Manager Husta may decide to switch hurlers and call on Bob Bush, Kingston's No. 1 moundsman all season.

The Saugerties No. 1 flash, Eddie Wallace, may be saved the worry of working against the Recs this week. Ed had the local club on the run for most of the game last Sunday but suddenly blew up. Manager Schultz will probably call on Joe "Big Train" Brown, the importation from the Troy Monitors.

During the two games played so far Charlie Francello has been the outstanding batsman with an average of .600. Andy Celuch and Bill Thomas pace the Recreations with .400. As a team the Recs are hitting .270 for the series while Saugerties, stopped by Bush and Neff, have been hitting .237.

Following are the batting averages for the two games played to date:

Odds Favor Pat Comiskey In His Battle With Max Baer

Paterson Irishman Will Be Out to End Maxie's Picture in World of Top-Flight Boxing

By SID FEDER

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 26 (AP)—Accompanied by a tidal wave of rumors, a flood of money on Pat Comiskey hit the betting fronts here and across the Hudson in New York today, less than 12 hours before the Paterson Irishman tangles with Max Baer.

One betting commissioner, enjoying his 4 a. m. cheese blintzes in Lindy's, estimated $100,000 of Comiskey money suddenly had appeared. As a result, the odds on the tussle in the local ball park immediately jumped in favor of the big-jawed Irish kid with the solid right hand, establishing him as choice at 5 to 7 or 8.

Most of the folks in the know, however, guffawed at the talk of "something doing," which buzzed all along Bash Boulevard as a result of this show of "fresh." Confronted with reports of "business" on the bout, they pointed out (1) Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, are reported to have bet more than $10,000, themselves, on Maxie to win; (2) Baer has a contract to appear in a Broadway show, hinging on his victory in this 15-round brawl, and (3) although the ex-playboy champion is, as always, the question mark of fistiana, and that not even he knows how he'll feel when he climbs into the ring about 9 p. m. (E. S. T.), he still regards Pounding Pat as a "fresh young punk" to be flattened.

The "Question Mark," however, is a cinch to be changed tonight either to a period, or an exclamation point. With an expected crowd of 20,000 to 25,000 looking on, the one-time heavyweight king is right on the spot. If he loses, you can pack him back in motiballs—he'll be as completely done as burnt toast. If he wins, he has, in addition to the aforementioned Broadway show, a chance to pick up some loose change fighting not-too-tough competition around and about.

Despite all the whispers, I like Baer to turn the trick, say inside eight rounds. This prediction is made with the admission that a year from now Pat probably will be as hot as a firecracker in heavyweight title circles, but right now he's just a classy looking prospect meeting up with a seasoned old warhorse who probably has forgotten more about the business of scrambling ears than the 19-year-old kid has yet learned.

Woven all through the fight are the magic names of Jack Dempsey and Doc Kearns, the combination which brought the fight game off the East river barges and into million-dollar society. Kearns, making his "comeback," is promoting the show and expects a gate on speaking terms with $100,000.

Dempsey is refereeing the bout, and, as a passing thought, it might be pointed out the old Manassa Mauler is handling this job just 13 years to the day since the famous "long count" in Chicago when a referee showed how 10 seconds can be 14.

The fight will not be broadcast.

Garden to Have Singing Contest

Contestants for Finals to Be Judged by Autry

Officials of Madison Square Garden have started a contest for a cowboy trio, or quartette or sextette to sing at the 15th Annual World's Championship Rodeo which opens October 9 and continues until October 27.

This contest will be conducted through radio stations and various other points. All teams qualifying for the finals will be judged by Gene Autry, top cowboy crooner of the screen and radio.

CLEVELAND STAYS IN PENNANT CHASE

Both Pace-Setters Have Three More Games on Schedule; Neusom Wins for Baker

(By The Associated Press)

The American League at last has reached the showdown stage in its furious pennant struggle and the Detroit Tigers are holding all the aces.

Their double victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday was all they needed. They now can eliminate the Cleveland Indians by winning any one of the three games the two teams have with each other this week-end. And they either can brush off the New York Yankees by winning two of them, or they can wait for the world champions to wear themselves out.

The standings today are:

W L Pct. GB TP

Detroit... 89 62 .589 ... 3
Cleveland... 87 64 .576 2 3

New York... 84 64 .568 3½ 6

Boston... 77 71 .520 10½
St. Louis... 66 85 .437 23

Washington... 62 87 .416 26
Philadelphia... 53 94 .361 34

It is readily apparent that neither Cleveland nor New York can win except through Detroit losing two games to come down to their level in the lost column. As far as Cleveland is concerned the Tigers must lose three, because whatever they don't lose the Indians will.

The Yankees still could get a tie by winning all their remaining games if Cleveland knocked off the Tigers in two or all three games. In the first case it would be a deadlock with Detroit and in the second with Cleveland. The champions already have won six in a row, however, and to expect them to win six more in four days is stretching the imagination to the breaking point, even against Philadelphia and Washington.

Yanks Play Two
They have a doubleheader today with the A's while Detroit and Cleveland grid for their final series opening tomorrow in Cleveland.

The Indians kept in the pennant fight yesterday by beating the St. Louis Browns 4-2 as Al Milnar bested Vernon Kennedy in a hurling duel. Milnar allowed six hits to his rival's seven, but Kennedy lost control of the game in the fourth inning by walking three men and letting in three runs.

Betty Jameson Is Favored to Retain Amateur Golf Title

Blonde Betty Will Meet Ex-State Champ in the Quarter-Finals Go; Others Are Ready

Del Monte, Calif., Sept. 26 (AP).—Defending Champion Betty Jameson remained the favorite of most observers to retain the National Women's Amateur Golf crown as play moved into the quarter-finals over the Pebble Beach course today.

Blonde Betty from San Antonio, Texas, met Mrs. Gregg Lifer of Los Angeles, former California state champion and a veteran tournament player, after edging out Mary Agnes Wall, Menominee, Mich., one up, and polishing off Mary Mozel Wagner, Portland, Ore. 5 and 4. Mrs. Wagner had eliminated Elizabeth Hicks, of Long Beach, Calif., in the morning round in a 3 and 1 upset.

Here's the battle register for today's quarter-final round:
Upper half—Georgia Tainter, Fargo, N. D., vs. Jane Cothran, Greenville, S. C., and Mrs. James Forrie, Pasadena, Calif., vs. Mary Morris, Pebble Beach.

Lower half—Clara Callender, Long Beach, Calif., vs. Mrs. Willard Shepherd, Los Angeles, and Miss Jameson vs. Mrs. Lifer.

Blow Hot, Blow Cold
Redlands, Calif. (AP)—This district is far enough south to grow oranges but far enough north to get an occasional killing cold wave. The oil companies profit. There are an estimated 6,500,000 gallons of oil in storage for emergency heating of the orange groves.

Wurtsboro Airport to Be Host of Entrants

The Hudson Valley Glider Club will sponsor a glider meet at its operation base, Wurtsboro Airport, Sullivan county on Columbus Day, October 12 and 13.

The meet is to be sanctioned by the Soaring Society of America with the cooperation of the National Aeronautic Association and the Civil Aeronautic Authority.

All members of the Soaring Society of America and the Eastern States Soaring Association are eligible to compete in altitude and endurance tests, spot landings, bomb droppings, aerobatics and airplane tows.

Clubs entered already include the cities of New York, Cambridge, Mass., Schenectady, Elmira, Hartford, Conn., Liberty Corner, N. J., Philadelphia, Pa., Allentown, Pa., and Wurtsboro.

Slot Machines and Art

People as a whole are unwilling to devote adequate time, energy and money to furthering cultural development, according to Alonzo Victor Lewis, famous sculptor and painter of the Northwest. He has suggested something rather unique and certainly original, as a means of developing curiosity and interest in art.

His suggestion is that paintings in public halls be veiled as they hang on the walls of public halls and that beside each painting there be placed a penny or nickel slot machine. As the coin is dropped in, the veil will lift, showing the painting to the coin owner for a couple of minutes.

"After all," he explained, "artists must live—just like everyone else."

Greenberg of Tigers Looks Like Most Valuable Player To Replace Cincy's Walters

Converted Infielder Will Be Menace to Pitchers; Bengals Have Edge in Outfield Strength

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—The heroic figure of big Hank Greenberg overshadows all rivals so completely that it is difficult to start to compare the outfields of the teams that will clash in the World Series next week.

The great Detroit left fielder, though playing a position he had only seen at a distance up to last March, has pounded the ball at such a terrific pace this season that he hasn't even a remote rival on the Cincinnati Reds, who will represent the National League for the second straight year.

The converted first baseman leads the American League in home runs, runs batted in and runs scored, and he is a mortal cinch to be acclaimed the year's most valuable player, succeeding Pitcher Bucky Walters of the Reds, who won the honor last season.

In the world series (providing, of course, that he gets there), he will be perhaps the most serious single menace to the set of worried pitchers since Babe Ruth hung up his wagon-tongue. As long as Hank is in there swinging, Detroit has a more potent outfield than either Cincinnati or Cleveland, the Tigers' rival for the American League title.

To make the Tigers' outfield superiority even more pronounced, they also possess the second-best gardener among the three clubs concerned. He is Barney McCosky, their sophomore center fielder, who at last official averages was banging the ball at .338 and generally crowding Greenberg as a run-producer. This pair, hitting in conjunction with Rudy York and Charlie Gehringer, give the Tigers a close to the Yankees' old murderers' row.

Good Replacements

Their right fielder, Pete Fox, is no slouch of a slugger, himself, and when Manager Del Baker feels like making a change he has such a capable pair in reserve as Earl Averill and Bruce Campbell, both sound .275 hitters. So the Tigers, all in all, must have about the best outfield in the business.

Cincinnati, on the other hand, has won two National League pennants despite its weak and frequently shaken-up bleacher brigade. Ival Goodman, in right, was the best the Reds had for several years. He hit 30 home runs in 1938 and last season had a highly respectable sticking average of .323. But this year he has been in the throes of a bad slump and through the last official averages was down to .255.

In center, Manager Bill McKernie has the freshman, Mike McCormick, finally having been forced to give up on Harry Craft, who made only one futile single in 11 attempts in the last world series. Jim Rippe, reclaimed from the minors, appears to have sewed up the left field job with a little timely hitting in the last month, since Morrie Aronovitch proved a flop.

Southern Pulp May Lower Costs of U. S. Newspapers

Largely dependent on high-priced Canadian and Scandinavian mills for the millions of tons of newsprint it uses annually, the U. S. publishing industry has long been looking forward to the development in this country of a low-priced newsprint that would bring down production costs. Such a newsprint was successfully made and used in the South.

Responsible for the discovery of the new southern newsprint was the late Savannah, Ga., chemist, Charles H. Herty. Hoping to open up a rich, new industry that would speed the unfolding of the South's industrial wings, he began experimenting early in the thirties to find out whether commercial newsprint could be made from the common, fast-growing southern pine, already the foundation of the kraft paper industry (low-grade paper used to make some paper bags).

Herty discovered that it could, but he died in 1938 before mills could be built that could make the southern pine newsprint in commercial quantities. However, the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association sponsored construction of a mill based on the Herty process at Lufkin, Texas.

It was this mill—recently completed—that was turning out the new newsprint last week. Among the papers using it were the Shreveport (La.) Times; the Little Rock (Ark.) Democrat; the Lufkin Daily News (first to use the new paper); and the Dallas Morning News. Reports were that it met every expectation—that it fed evenly, took tension well, and reproduced pictures clearly.

Hardly had the success of the new southern newsprint been established when C. P. Winslow, director of the U. S. forest products laboratory in Madison, Wis., made the announcement that it could be produced even cheaper.

American Indians Used Modern Military Ideas

American Indians discovered and used some of the modern principles of military engineering long before the coming of the white man, according to Prof. W. Duncan Strong of the department of anthropology of Columbia university, who has reported on an extensive exploration of a prehistoric Indian fort with his associates.

Examining the remains of Indians who inhabited parts of South Dakota during the Seventeenth century, they arrived at the conclusion that the construction of the moat and stockade surrounding the fortified village made it apparent that they had some knowledge of engineering before their contact with European settlers.

The design of the fortification proved to be distinctly Indian, with the tribe living chiefly by farming. Their survey disclosed that approximately 1,500 Indians lived in a village surrounded by wooden stockades and a moat 1½ miles in circumference.

The explorers also discovered cache pits, evidently for the storage of corn and other food, dug in the floors and outside the houses. Hoes made of the shoulder-blades of buffaloes and charred corn showed that agriculture was practiced, while bone fish-hooks and numerous bones of game animals indicated that hunting and fishing were also important economic activities.

Simple flesh burials were found as was pottery and other features connecting this village with the prehistoric ancestors of the Arikara and Pawnee Indians.

Italian "House Chiefs"

Rome (AP)—A new title with important duties, that of "capo fabbricato," has been assigned to one man in each apartment house in Italy. His main task is to shepherd fellow-tenants to air-raid shelters.

The "capo fabbricato," or "house chiefs," are responsible for seeing that no light is visible at night. The government has reinforced their authority by making them "public officials" while on duty.

FOR GANNETS ONLY—No hunter's gun can disturb these gannets, some of the thousands that live and breed under government protection on Bonaventure Island near Quebec, Canada.

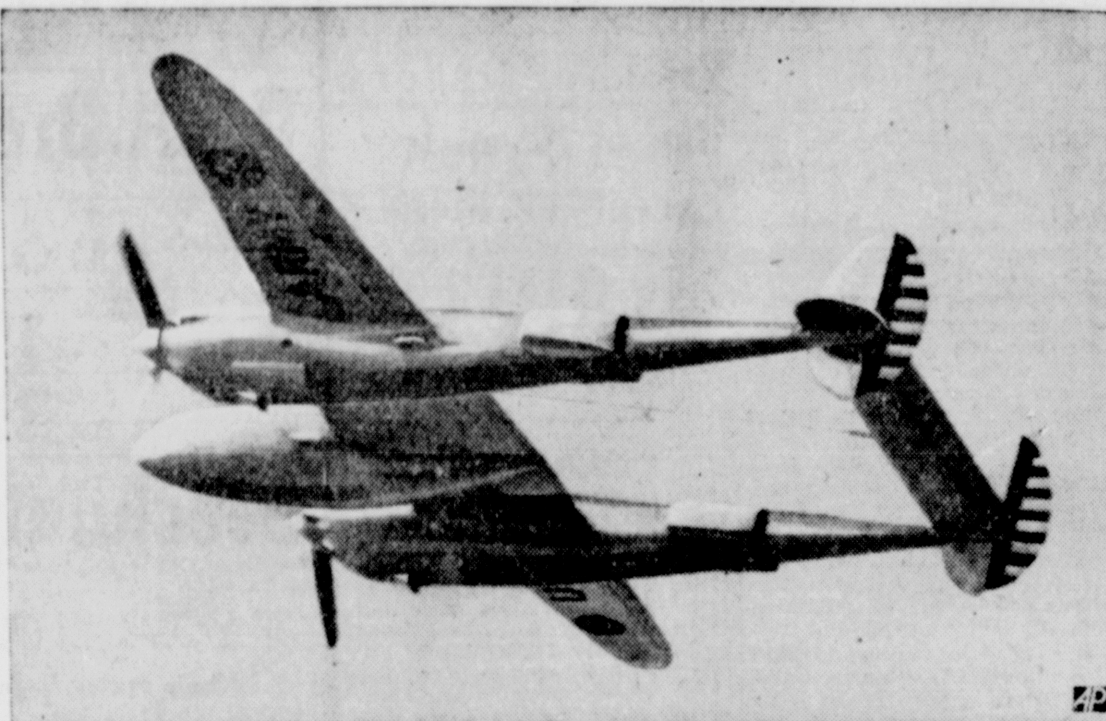

THE LIGHT THAT FAILS—Fires in East London's industrial section light the night sky enough to silhouette the skyline, including St. Paul's cathedral (left), as Nazi raiders repeat their nightly calls—presumably, some observers think—to hit military objectives and to wear down British morale as well. Flames could be seen for miles around bombed area.

DRUMMIN' UP TRADE—One roll on the drums by Eddie, the chimpanzee at Delaware Park zoo in Buffalo, and visitors line up three deep about his cage. He's only two but already is one of zoo's most popular attractions.

HANDS FULL—With two jobs in the New Deal administration, Jesse H. Jones (above) keeps tolerably busy. Already federal loan administrator, he recently took oath as secretary of commerce, to succeed Harry Hopkins, who resigned.

FAST AND FURIOUS—Shown in flight, the army's newest interceptor-pursuit plane, a Lockheed P-38, has been called the "world's fastest military plane" by Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, army air corps chief. Details of performance were not given after recent test flight at Burbank, Cal., but plane's believed capable of 500 m.p.h. Army has ordered $52,000,000 worth.

YEA, YALE!—Coach "Ducky" Pond and Capt. Harold Whiteman (right) of Nashville discuss Eli chances at New Haven.

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

REPUBLICAN—Time and his forelock tossed in the wind as fist-waving Wendell Willkie, G.O.P. presidential candidate, dwells on a major point for crowds at San Bernardino, Cal., one stop on his western campaign circuit.

NAZI CALLING CARD—When this piece of a Nazi bomb was plunging Londonward, Britons got as far from it as they could. But this is after the raid, and S. E. Spurr of London examines it. The bomb hit near an air raid shelter.

WAR RATIONS PANTS—Long war has brought short pants to Rome as Italians adopt shorter (and cloth-saving) trousers.

NO BALL GAMES NOW—Until permanent facilities for the soldiers are finished, the army has taken over the baseball park at Ventura county fair grounds in Ventura, Cal., and pup tents have sprung up along the base lines.

DEMOCRAT—As critically as though it held the answer to November elections, this flag is examined by President Roosevelt during his visit to the quartermasters' depot at Philadelphia. F.D.R. also visited naval yard.

TRAGEDY OF FRANCE—The tragic history of a broken France is summed up in this dejected poilu plodding home after defeat. The figure is by J. Bourgauf, a French-Canadian wood-carver living near Riviere-du-Loup, Quebec province.

TEST—He knows but he can't tell—how the army's new interceptor, the Lockheed P-38, worked during a test flight. He's Marshall Headle, test pilot for the flight.

bombs war laid across the northern half of the airframe." Seventeen miles east of Berlin, a munitions factory at Rudersdorf was picked out by a single British raider and bombed in the light of parachute flares, the communique said. Fire followed the hit, it was said.

The Rudersdorf raider searched 20 minutes for its target, amid heavy fire from ground batteries, before tripping the bomb rack, the ministry said.

London's millions emerged from underground shelters after the 19th consecutive dusk-to-dawn assault. Fires were started in many parts of the London area, but the authoritative British Press association said an intense "flaming" barrage by anti-aircraft guns had kept the Nazi raiders away from the heart of the rubble-strewn capital of empire.

Hitler's high command reported that waves of Nazi warplanes "effectively bombed" British warships anchored near Plymouth as well as military barracks near Dungeness. Other attacks were directed at Portland, Southend, an airplane factory at Filton, and London's port facilities on both sides of the Thames.

Farmer Simpson Is Perturbed by Bees, Plans Court Case

day at the garage, transformed in a court of justice, George Tompkins will preside with a jury to give judgment in the case of Road Stand vs. a hive of bees et al.

One of the interesting side issues of what bids fair to be a classic of Ulster county is the answer to the question, how do you know where the bees came from? It is said Farmer Simpson cannily sprinkled the bees with flour.

Was Postponed

The case was originally scheduled for trial on September 24 but an adjournment was taken at that time until Tuesday, October 1, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening when all good bees are expected to be asleep and there will be little probability of the court being disturbed.

At that time Justice Tompkins will be called upon to preside over a jury trial when the facts will be laid in court and judgment given. The allegation is that Mr. Simpson has been damaged because of loss of business and also that he has suffered certain damage through loss of soft fruits on his stand which the bees paid particular attention to in appeasing their appetites.

Francis Martocci will appear to present the case of Mr. Simpson while District Attorney N. LeVan Haver will appear for Mr. Rowe, defendant. Mr. Haver is considered a bee expert, having a few years ago appeared in a famous bee case where a similar claim was made.

Tried in Supreme Court, it was claimed bees of a neighbor had stung the plaintiff while he was using a ladder, causing serious bodily harm. At that time Mr. Haver appeared for the defendant and the verdict was for the defendant when the plaintiff was unable to identify the offending bees as those of his neighbor.

Identity in that case, which was between New Paltz parties, probably was somewhat complicated, since the plaintiff had been stung in his eye, placing that out of commission and rendering it useless in tracing the return journey of the bees after the offensive had been completed.

Swart Is Given Contract For Building Town Garage

Contract for building the town of Ulster new garage was awarded to Contractor Henry H. Swart at a meeting of the town board Wednesday night. Swart was low bidder and takes the contract for $5,700. Martin Carr was low bidder at $240 for the electrical work, but it is stated that some changes will be made in the specifications for that part of the work.

The Swart contract covers erection of the building, which will be 40 x 80 feet, one story, and will be built of brick which was donated by the local brick companies.

The new building will contain an office for the town superintendent of highways and a vault for safekeeping of the town clerk's records. Remainder of the space will be used for housing town machinery.

Temple to Dedicate Memorial to Stern

Services will be held in Temple Emanuel on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. A dedication of a memorial donated by the president of the Temple, Dr. Samuel Stern, in memory of his parents, will form part of the service. The sermon preached will be entitled "The Tablets of Memory."

The religious school registration will open on Sunday at 10 a. m. A meeting of the Jewish Community Council will take place on Thursday evening, September 26, at 8 o'clock.

Local Alien Registration To Continue Until Dec. 26

There are 350 aliens so far registered at the Central Post Office building on Broadway, it was stated by Postmaster William R. Kraft today. Registration will continue until midnight Thursday, December 26.

Room 3 in the post office building has been set aside for the registration of all aliens, and entrance is from Broadway. The work is in charge of William Schwab, assisted by William Gallagher and Joseph Murphy of the local post office department.

Aliens are not only registered but fingerprinted, and all over 14 years of age must apply for registration. All information given the registrars will be regarded as confidential.

Army Expects Its Quota of 375,000 Ahead of Schedule

New Record of 40,000 Is Expected This Month; Papers and Cruising Depots Credited

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—War department officials predicted today that the record-breaking influx of recruits would give the army its immediate objective of 375,000 regulars by mid-November, well ahead of schedule.

The flow of enlistments indicated a new record of 40,000 or more for September, compared with 31,960 in July and 38,611 in August. Records of 27,870 recruits already have been received this month—more than 3,000 above the total on the corresponding date last month.

As of September 21, with 324,000 enlisted men in service, the regular army was much the largest in American peacetime history. Newspaper advertising, em-played for the first time on a large scale, and specially built mobile recruiting stations have contributed materially to the enlistment drive, officials said.

The imminence of conscription was not given the major credit for the recent heavy number of enlistments. Officials pointed out that the number of recruits had started to mount before the draft bill received administration approval or before its enactment by Congress became certain.

They also cited the fact that the recruits were signing up for the army's regular three-year term, whereas draft trainees or those who volunteer under the conscription law have only one year to serve. (The army is not yet accepting the one-year voluntary enlistments provided for in the conscription law: Such applications will be handled through the draft boards after the October 16 registration date.)

When the army's present 375,000-man goal is reached—by mid-November at the present rate—plans are to continue the drive for three-year enlistments irrespective of selective service and expansion of the National Guard.

It's a Touchdown From the Kickoff for U. S. Fall Styles

American Designers Mix Basic Styles With Surprises

By AMY PORTER
AP Fashion Writer

What? Long hobble skirts split to the knee? Plunger necklines, cut in a deep V to the diaphragm? A trench coat of gold cloth? Shoes of leopard skin with soles three inches thick? A hat of white fox dyed pink? Divided skirts and harem hemlines?

It's shocking, the news from the American fashion openings.

But, like sensational news from Paris openings, these tidings are to be taken with a grain of salt.

Of the 800 original American designs presented with great fanfare by six leading Fifth Avenue style establishments last week, about 100 were sensational—for the sake of the headlines and a few daringly best-dressed women. The rest were simple, wearable, and nice—the sort of clothes you could take to your heart.

In Paris Tradition

American designers, determined to prove that they could produce fine clothes without the help of Paris, did themselves proud.

The clothes were in the Paris tradition, with clean-cut lines and fine detail.

Hand-done embroidery, beading, hand-made belts and buckles appeared in profusion, refuting the claim that fine handwork can come only from Paris.

Though the variety of design was great, the collections clung to basic trends launched in Paris last spring.

The silhouette is slim, skirt 16 or 17 inches from the floor. Shoulders are moderately wide, and waistlines are an inch or so below normal.

This doesn't mean American designers haven't the courage for change, but only that the time isn't ripe for radical style revision. Meantime there's plenty of fashion interest.

How would you like a venetian blind dress so realistic you'd probably try to pull the cord? Sophie Gimbel designed it for the Saks Fifth Avenue collection.

What do you think of Hattie Carnegie's newest invention—parade fox? It is white fox—sometimes dyed pink—with long black monkey furs grafted in.

A rust-red velvet impressed with a sweeping plume design was used in one of the most applauded dresses at the Bergdorf Goodman show.

Parade fur was introduced at Hattie Carnegie's fashion opening. It is fox fur, pink or white, with black monkey hairs grafted in. Used here in cape, muff and hat.

'Golden Goddess' is the name Milgrim gives to this molded evening gown. The long bodice is made of gold lame, and the draped turban matches. Note the fitted hip-line.

Stuff Salad in Cucumber Boats

Cucumbers go "boating" when stuffed with salmon or tuna salad. Select fresh, well-shaped cucumbers of uniform size. Remove the centers. Make up your favorite salad recipe and stuff the cucumber cases. Stick in flags—tiny bits of red and green peppers on wood picks. The cucumbers can be peeled or used in their skins. They serve only as containers.

Strange Wallpaper Seen

In New York Museum

Chinese, French, English and American wallpapers of unusual pattern, including hand-painted canvases from the bathroom walls of the Fifth Avenue home of Cornelius Vanderbilt, French paper from a Newport, R. I., estate, are displayed in a representative exhibition of recent acquisitions to the Cooper Union Museum for the Arts of Decoration in New York.

American papers from block prints of the early Nineteenth century to the latest rotogravure types are shown in addition to the extensive collection of American wallpaper on view at the museum.

The wall decorations for the Vanderbilt bathroom were designed and painted on canvas in 1881 by Pierre Victor Galland, foremost French decorator of the Nineteenth century and director of Gobelins, state subsidized tapestry works in Paris.

Lavishly decorated with satyrs, cherubs, nudes, ducks and scrolls, it is painted in heavy browns and reds. Vanderbilt, upon receiving the imported masterpiece, had American painters daub flecks of gold paint over the surface because he felt that the walls were too dark for the room.

U. S. Territories

The United States has paid $102,200,000 to six foreign governments for territory purchased in the following order: (1) Louisiana Purchase (1803) from France, including all or part of 13 present states running from the Gulf to Canada, $15,000,000. (2) Mexican Cession (1848), including California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and parts of Colorado and New Mexico, $15,000,000; the Gadsden Purchase from Mexico (1853), of part of Arizona, $10,000,000. (3) Russian cession of Alaska (1867), $7,200,000. (4) Spanish cession of Puerto Rico, Guam and Philippines (1898), $20,000,000. (5) Canal Zone purchase (1903) from Panama, $10,000,000 and $250,000 per year rent after 1912. (6) Virgin Islands purchased from Denmark (1916) for $25,000,000. In addition to these purchases from France, Mexico, Russia, Spain, Panama and Denmark, the federal government paid the state of Texas $10,000,000 in 1850 for ceding territory which is now part of Colorado and New Mexico.

Ketchup Gives Onions New Appeal

Both Eye and Palate Tempted by Crimson Sauce

By FRANCES PECK
Heins Home Institute

IT'S SMART to serve an inexpensive vegetable such as onions in such a tempting way that it is irresistible. This is one trick that helps you keep the food budget in control while your menu variety and interest increases. Ketchup Butter Sauce performs just such a magic for you in the following new onion recipe:

Cook medium sized onions in a large quantity of boiling salted water until tender but still slightly crisp. Heat together equal portions of tomato ketchup and butter, allowing about two tablespoons of the sauce for each serving of onions. Pour sauce over the drained onions and serve immediately.

After your family has had a taste of onions prepared in this way, they will enjoy this modest vegetable often and consider it a treat. You will find Ketchup Butter Sauce has a way with other vegetables as well, such as cabbage, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts.

Silver Spring, Md. (AP)—Mrs. Trop L. Waldrop, 34, made the highest mark of 76 persons who passed the last state bar examinations. She said she plans to just "keep on being a housewife." She never went to law school but took some extension work "years ago."

Tired of Cheap Guitars, Youth Creates His Own

The ancient art of the violin maker has been revived in a modern sense by Charles W. Bakovich of Preston, Wash.

Bakovich, 25, who has been playing string instruments for 13 years, makes guitars.

Wait a minute. Before you picture the cigar box variety you see in the hands of stage comedians, take another look at Bakovich's masterpiece.

You couldn't duplicate it in any music shop and if you tried you would spend about $425 getting something like it. As for this particular one, you couldn't buy it from him for $1,000.

Like the author who said when he wanted to read a good book he wrote one, it all started when Bakovich decided he wanted a good guitar.

He was tired of playing cheap instruments and didn't have the price of a good one.

"I think I'll make myself a good one," he kept telling his friends, and finally he talked himself into it.

It took him 11 months, but when he got through, he had an inlaid instrument with spruce top, birch lining, curly maple neck, back and sides, pine blocks, ebony keyboard, rosewood bridge and walnut, mahogany, walnut and ebony maple inlay. He even gold-plated the metal work himself, and cut out the pearlloid rest.

But looks is only the first verse. You should hear the tone. And hear him play it, too. He isn't bragging when he says he can listen to Eddie Peabody on the air, then immediately shut him out. The piece. If you weren't looking you wouldn't know which was which.

But to get back to instrument-making, Bakovich wasn't satisfied with merely making the guitar. He also made a case for it, though he had to try it twice before he got one to suit him.

Now it's become a habit—or hobby, rather. He has started two more guitars. Says it's lots of fun, and when he wears of his exacting task he gets his relaxation by picking up his finished product and turning out whatever kind of music happens to suit his mood—classical, folk songs or swing.

Today's Excuse

Petersburg, Va. (AP)—That was courage tonic he had been using, Richard Allen, 26, told the court when arraigned on a charge of driving a horse while drunk. "The horse was so mean he refused to be harnessed," Allen explained, "and I had to take two or three drinks before I got up nerve enough to go into the stable." The judge reduced the charge to plain drunkenness, fined Allen $10.

Strictly Informal

Memphis, Tenn. (AP)—No engraved invitations does Fred Bauer, Sr., issue when he's throwing a party. He merely prepares refreshment and entertainment. When it's all set he goes to his front porch and puffs away with a bugle. "Neighbors in the mood for a shin-dig come a-runnin'."

Glad we aren't built that way: Jack—Does a giraffe have a sore throat if it gets its feet wet? Jake—Yes, but not until the following week.

S-49 Attracts Local Sightseers

Former U. S. Navy Sub Is Berthed in Creek

Submarine S-49, formerly of the U. S. Navy, is berthed at the Stone dock in the Rondout creek at the foot of Hasbrouck avenue, where it may be viewed daily from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night.

The sub is in charge of Captain F. J. Christensen, and is said to be the only submarine used for exhibition purposes in the country.

Captain Christensen since he acquired the submarine from the navy has been sailing from port to port throwing open the boat for public inspection for a nominal admission. The submarine is propelled under its own power, but does not submerge.

The interior of the huge submarine is an interesting sight to a visitor who has never been aboard one. The boat has sleeping quarters for a crew of 42 men, and is propelled by two 900-horsepower Diesel engines.

One of the interesting sights is the torpedo compartments containing four torpedo tubes 21 feet long. The kitchen aboard the vessel is one of the smallest, being 4 x 10 feet, but is so constructed that meals for the crew are easily prepared by the chef.

Another interesting thing to be seen aboard the sub is the escape hatch where the crew can escape from the vessel in case of emergency.

It is planned to keep the submarine here until Sunday night.

The American Red Cross had 3,716 members at the end of its last fiscal year.

Editor Says Consul Complained About Paper's Contents

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 26 (AP)—The editor of a German language newspaper here declared today a German consul had written him that the publication, the Texas Free Press, reported in the very same manner the fuhrer objects to.

The editor, G. F. Neuheuser, said he turned the letter over to the Dies committee on un-American activities.

He asserted the consul, Baron Edgar Von Spiegel of New Orleans, had sought to make him disregard his duties as an American citizen. He came to the United States shortly after the World War.

Neuheuser said he also believed an implied threat was contained in the letter, written in German: "The fuhrer declared that Germany in the future will proceed with all means against international propaganda."

Hitler's Objection Neuheuser, who has been giving a series of lectures warning of fifth column activities in Texas, said the letter read in part:

"When you read the last great speech of Adolf Hitler word for word you will see that he had occupied himself intensively with the comment of the foreign press toward Germany."

"I notice with great regret that you report in your paper in the very same manner the fuhrer objects to—and I cannot help the impression such reporting must be hostile, to put it mildly—the article you wrote about Pastor Niemoller also does not have my approval and contains lies."

"The fuhrer declared that Germany in the future will proceed with all means against international newspaper propaganda."

"Please be assured that it is very embarrassing to me that I have to write this to you at all, but after what I have read lately in your newspaper I consider it my duty to do this, especially if I and my government shall support you further through our cooperation."

Neuheuser did not say to what Von Spiegel referred by "support" in the last paragraph of his letter.

Upstate Candidate Might Get G.O.P. Senate Nomination

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—There were indications from pre-state convention huddles of Republican leaders today that the party's United States senatorial nomination might go to an up-state man at tomorrow's convention.

The names of Bernard W. Kearney, Fulton county district attorney and James J. (Jerry) Wadsworth, Genesee assemblyman, were frequently mentioned as possible opponents of Democratic Senator James M. Mead.

Rep. Bruce Barton, of Manhattan, whose friends are urging him to reconsider his decision to stand for reelection to the House, and W. Kingsland Macy, Suffolk county chairman also were under consideration.

Barton was understood, however, to prefer to remain in the House.

In view of a heavy up-state Republican vote needed to off-set the normal Democratic majority in New York city, up-state leaders were represented as feeling they should have a senatorial candidate from outside metropolitan New York.

At the same time, some of them were said to be ready to accept Macy if an up-state man is named for representative-at-large.

Regional Meeting Planned At Hotel Sunday at 2:30

The regional meeting of the joint distribution committee will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Sunday, September 29, at 2:30. Sol Reiter of Newburgh will preside. Representatives from various communities in this vicinity will be present.

Problems of war relief work and how it is carried on in the face of great difficulties will be discussed.

Communal leaders from Albany and elsewhere will share the benefit of their experience with the local committee. The internationally known writer, traveler and lecturer, Marvin Lowenthal, will speak. There will be ample opportunity for discussion from the floor. Positively no funds, pledges or any other commitments will be solicited. The meeting is to be carried on entirely for the purpose of informing the public as to the problems and solutions of Jewish relief work in Europe and among the refugees in our own country.

Huge Drydock Planned

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—The House appropriations committee recommended today funds for the navy department to start immediate construction at Bayonne, N. J., of the world's largest graving drydock. The committee included in $1,469,993,363 supplemental defense appropriation bill reported favorably to the House, $15,000,000 for the navy department to start construction of the huge drydock and to acquire the Bayonne municipal terminal for a fleet supply base.

Pays Fine of $50

Stanley Quick, 58, of Woodstock, arrested last night at Stony Hollow by Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne on a charge of drunken driving, pleaded not guilty and asked for a hearing when arraigned before Justice Percy Bush and the hearing was set for Friday at 2 p. m. Quick had a change of mind this morning and decided to plead guilty. He was taken before the justice, who fined him $50 and revoked his driving license. Quick paid the fine and was discharged.

dress was his reference to the "fifth column—a column we never see, that burrows down deep from within, eats at the heart of our civilization" and "is the termite that would rot out the ancient oak from which our fore-fathers built in these Catskill hills." He would have this fifth column destroyed and in its place another column erected that would "bolster up the structure which we call our American way of life."

Such a column, he said, would be "rooted deep in the heart of every true American citizen. A column to spread its girth as we are ready to give it strength from our devotion as Americans. A column to be capped with all the intelligence, the sincerity of purpose and earnestness of desire which we, as forward-looking citizens of the country we love, are pleased to give with the fullest measure of devotion for the protection of what we call our civilization."

Speaking of the "nine hundred thousand boys and young men who next month shall respond to the call to the colors," he characterized them as "selected specimens of finest American manhood who are to be as the beacon shining from the topmost tip of this new column I ask you to help build; that shall say to all America, 'ours is a heritage that must be protected. Ours is the way of life so noble, so worthy, so fine it is worth sacrificing for, worth fighting for, worth living for.'"

He added "the spectacle of conscription is going to shake us down to our very souls."

Must Build Thought "But it is not through the army alone that we must build," the speaker said. "We must build the thinking of all our people to counteract the propaganda of the isms, the saboteurs, the spies, the propaganda of the forces which would destroy."

"We must teach every adult man and woman that as they go about their daily tasks they should understand, but they should not repeat what they hear, lest they, by their repetition, add to the growing waves of propaganda that spread through our nation."

"We must drive out of our country those who have taken advantage of our fundamental liberties, the right of public assembly, and the freedom of the press, in order to foment and agitate against the institutions that gave them that right. We must fight to keep our newspapers active and free, for the press is the keystone in the archway of our freedom."

"We must rally the youth of our country, down even to the children in our schools—rally them to the glorious cause of maintaining the rights, the privileges, the happinesses which are a part of our American Way of Living."

"We must work with the boys and girls who are just out of school to help them find that way of life which shall bring them the sweetest joys enjoyed by those of us who have passed to an older generation. We must work for better home environment because the home is the keystone of the American scheme."

"We must work more closely with the churches because man achieves to the goal of Godliness as he is permitted to serve in the name of church, for Godliness is the essence of the American Way."

"We must develop our work with those who are less privileged than ourselves because in doing something worthy for the worthy, man builds the self-respect upon which Americans thrive."

The entertainment program which followed the speaking was given by Miss Carolyn Penzato of New Paltz, ventriloquist, assisted by "Tommy," and a "Quiz" session conducted by John Errie of W.K.N.Y. Six members of the club, Charles Burke, Dr. John A. Comstock, Dr. J. Gifford, E. W. Snyder, E. R. Bower and E. W. Bonsteel, were the experts and they did pretty well, barring a bit of hesitation when the questioner got to handing out queries on how to cook, how to clean various household articles and other questions of like import. "Tommy" helped out when the going got too difficult.

Nothing to Criticize

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Senate campaign committee decided today there was nothing in President Roosevelt's Labor Day speech at Chattanooga, Tenn., which would bring it within the authority of the committee. Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) said the committee acted after considering a letter from Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts asking an inquiry into the speech on the ground that it was political. He had requested the Senate group to find out whether the Democratic national committee or the government paid the expenses of the President's Labor Day trip.

Says Army Is Real Life

the communiqué did not specify the extent of damage or casualties.

(Reports from Vichy said damage had been inflicted on the 31-100-ton British battleship Barham, the 29,150-ton battleship Resolution and the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Kent.)

The British reported, however, two of three French submarines which took part in the engagement were sunk and indicated hits had been scored on the 35,000-ton French battleship Richelieu, which the British reported they had damaged in an expedition to Dakar last July 8.

Report From Gibraltar

Linked with news of the setback at Dakar was a report from Gibraltar that some 100 French planes had dropped more than 300 bombs on that British stronghold at the western entrance to the Mediterranean during a two and a half hour raid yesterday.

The raid, apparently in reprisal for the Dakar attack, was the second executed by French planes at Gibraltar in as many days.

Reports from La Linea, Spain, opposite Gibraltar, said flames were seen leaping up from the naval base, and heavy explosions indicated two powder magazines had been hit. Bombs also were said to have fallen in many parts of the town of Gibraltar, causing numerous casualties.

(Official reports from Vichy said the 32,000-ton British battle

Will Honor Tickets

Due to a change in the radio time for the speech which Wendell Willkie will deliver at Empire Track, Yonkers, Saturday, seat tickets will be honored at 8:30 p. m., instead of 7:45 p. m., as printed on the tickets. Charles H. Griffiths, Westchester county chairman, announced Wednesday. Several thousand tickets bearing the 7:45 p. m. time have been issued to individuals and groups in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and other states, Mr. Griffiths explained.
